Viet Reds OK Preliminary Talks With U.S.

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam said today it is ready to send representatives to meet with U.S. representatives to confirm U.S. readiness to halt all bombing of North Vietnam and cease all other military activity "as a condition for talking peace."

The statement, broadcast in Vietnamese and monitored and translated by the Japan Broadcasting Corp., noted that U.S. warplanes were "continuing to bomb important areas between the 17th and 20th parallels."

But, the translation said, "in order to be able to start talks," the Hanoi government "is prepared to send its representatives to meet with U.S. representatives to confirm" America's willingness to completely halt all bombing and stop all military action on the ground.

It said fulfillment of these conditions was necessary in order for peace talks to begin. The statement went on to call on "all progressive people of the United States" to support the drive for peace in Vietnam.

The 15-minute statement added that as long as the United States continues its "war of aggression," North Vietnam will continue to fight to defend North Vietnam, completely "liberate" South Vietnam and to reunify the country.

The statement apparently was an official answer to President Johnson's speech of Sunday. Earlier official Hanoi newspapers hinted at rejection of the overture.

A State Department spokesman had no immediate comment on the Hanoi announcement and it was not immediately clear whether the United States would regard the North Vietnamese statement as responding to President Johnson's newest offer.

The radio broadcast, in the Vietnamese language, said as translated here:

It is clear that the U.S. government has not correctly and fully responded to the just demand of DRV (North Vietnamese) government, of U.S. progressive opinion, and of world opinion.

"However, on its part, the DRV government declares its readiness to send its representatives to make contact with U.S. representatives to decide with the U.S. side the unconditional cessation of bombing and all other war acts against the DRV so that talks could begin."

The North Vietnamese language broadcast arrived more than an hour ahead of a scheduled 11:15 a.m. EST announcement that Radio Hanoi had said it was going to make.

Presumably the North Vietnamese statement was to be an official response to Johnson's move for peace talks which he announced in his Sunday night speech.

Johnson said Sunday night he had ordered air and naval attacks on North Vietnam stopped "except in the area north of the Demilitarized Zone where the continuing enemy build-up directly threatens allied forward positions and where movements of troops and supplies are clearly related to that threat."

Johnson said he had ordered the cutback in the bombing as a unilateral act by the United States to induce North Vietnam to enter into negotiations to end the war.

In South Vietnam, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops have opened a drive to lift the North Vietnamese siege of the Marine base at Khe Sanh and have met no resistance, the American command said today.

The relief force was expected to push through soon to the battered fortress in the northwest, where 6,000 Marines and 1,000 South Vietnamese have been encircled since January by from 16,000 to 20,000 North Vietnamese regulars.

As this drive, which kicked off Monday, was announced, informed sources said that a Cambodian navy boat shot down a U. S. Navy plane on patrol off the west coast of South Vietnam.

The patrol plane was looking for gun-running Viet Cong trawlers in the Gulf of Siam. Its 10-man crew was missing.

In the advance on Khe Sanh, U.S. 1st Cavalry Division troops were cooperating with Marines and South Vietnamese

Wisconsin Likes McCarthy, Nixon

Ex-Vee Gets 80 Per Cent, McCarthy, 57

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy, triumphant with 57 per cent of the vote in Wisconsin's prelude to battle, turned today toward the arenas which pose the real test of his claim that he can win the White House.

And Richard M. Nixon added another trophy in his march toward the Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon built a towering 80 per cent of the Republican vote to match his showing in New Hampshire's opening primary three weeks ago. He had no real opposition in either race.

The former vice president said his showing proved that Wisconsin will be in the Republican column when the White House votes are counted next Nov. 5.

With 3,112 of 3,291 precincts counted, this was the Democratic picture:

McCarthy 390,204 votes for 57 per cent of the party turnout; Johnson 241,866 or 35 per cent.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the rival McCarthy will have to overcome if he is to be nominated, drew 6 per cent of the votes. But those were write-in votes, for his name was not on the ballot. And Kennedy had urged that people who favor him vote for McCarthy in Wisconsin.

Nixon's Republican landslide read this way, with 3,094 precincts counted:

Nixon 371,432, or 80 per cent; California Gov. Ronald Reagan 48,968, or 11 per cent, habitual candidate Harold E. Stassen 27,281, or 6 per cent.

With that victory, Nixon captured 30 Wisconsin votes at the Republican national convention. McCarthy won 17 Democratic votes with his state-wide victory, and another 32 by carrying eight congressional districts.

George C. Wallace, the former Alabama governor campaigning for president as an independent, drew scant support in Wisconsin's presidential primary Tuesday.

He had a scattering of votes in both party races. The count: Wallace received 3,250 Democratic votes and 1,309 of the Republican total.

With the vote nearing completion, the Wallace share did not amount to even one per cent in either party.

Four years ago, Wallace collected 34 per cent of the Democratic vote running against then-Gov. John W. Reynolds, a stand-in for President Johnson.

The workers will vote April 10 on whether to be represented by the United Electrical, Radio & Machine Workers of America.

Council Action Sought To Lighten Police Load

John Jenkins, chairman of Circleville City Council's safety committee, Tuesday asked his fellow solons to consider legislation which would alleviate the work load in the police department.

Jenkins proposed that a meter maid be hired by the city to relieve Patrolman Jack Mills of the duty of tending to the downtown parking meters.

He also noted that police frequently had to call a man off the streets to serve as a deputy clerk for the Circleville Municipal Court during hours when the court is closed.

Jenkins said the safety committee planned to meet with Judge Sterling Lamb to see if a fulltime deputy clerk could be employed to handle bond money for traffic violators arrested after the court closes.

JENKINS also asked that more men be trained to operate the city's breath-o-lyzer, used to determine whether or not a person is intoxicated.

Patrolman Larry Pontious is presently the only officer trained to operate the unit Jenkins noted and must be called in when not on duty.

In his report to council, Jenkins noted that Harold Anderson, president of the city park board, had requested that a traffic light be placed at the intersection of Court St. and Rosewood Ave. Jenkins noted, however, that it would be his recommendation that a caution light be installed, not a traffic light.

He also asked that the city purchase a ladder truck to use to repair traffic lights. At present, the service department places a wood scaffold in the rear of a truck to make the repairs. Jenkins stated the present arrangement is dangerous and recommended that action be taken before a city employee is seriously injured or killed by a fall from the scaffold.

He also recommended that a copy machine be purchased for the city police department.

Noble Barr gave a brief report on his attendance at the seminar on city government. He also aired a complaint registered with him by Steve Mathews who said work to install a curb and gutter at his place of business on Corwin St. was delayed by the service department.

COUNCILMAN Dave Crawford gave a brief report on the ordinance to advertise for bids for installation of valves to the water distribution system and on the obtaining of easements on Atwater for the storm sewer.

Crawford noted they were negotiating for five easements. had obtained three of them and a fourth property owner had indicated he would provide an easement.

Councilmen Boyd Horn, Keith Wagner and David Goldschmidt had no reports to council.

Lancaster Gets Dayton Slaying Trial

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Montgomery County Common Pleas Judge J. Paul Benton has ordered the second-degree murder trial of Will Edward Dixon, accused of the fatal stabbing of Wilbur Wright High School Coach Thomas Prinz, moved to Lancaster in Fairfield County.

The case has been scheduled on the Fairfield County Common Pleas Court docket for April 22.

Benton said he felt Dixon could not receive a fair trial in Dayton.

The 19-year-old Dixon was charged originally with first-degree manslaughter but the charge was changed to second-degree murder after the case was presented to the grand jury.

Prinz was stabbed eight times last Sept. 26. Witnesses said Prinz approached Dixon and asked him to leave a football practice field because he was not a student and was allegedly creating a disturbance.

Witnesses also said Prinz picked Dixon up, threw him over his shoulder and walked about 10 yards with him off the field when he was stabbed with a 10-inch Bowie knife.

Soldier Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Sgt. John R. Strohmaier of Toledo, Ohio, has been killed in Vietnam. He had been reported as missing, but the Defense Department said Tuesday he died of hostile causes.

FBI Probes Alleged Demo Arm-Twisting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI has opened a criminal investigation into an accusation that the head of the Maritime Administration summoned 79 of his top-salary employees to a business-hours meeting and pressured them to contribute to the Democratic party.

The charge was made last week to The Associated Press by a high-level employee of the agency who said Acting Administrator James W. Gulick held the meeting March 21 in a conference room near his office in the General Accounting Office building.

At the meeting, the employee said, Gulick told those present that each would have to decide for himself how to respond to invitations to a $250-a-place Democratic fund-raising dinner, then added:

"If you want to make sure that you have a nice, clean file—and you can be sure that a file is kept somewhere—you know what to do."

Such action would violate election law prohibiting a federal employee from soliciting political contributions from another federal employee on federal property, a Justice Department official told The Associated Press on Tuesday.

The FBI moved into the case Monday at the request of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, the official said. He declined to speculate on the length or outcome of the probe.

Gulick has acknowledged calling the meeting on March 21. He also said a second meeting was called the next day because "I heard of the possibility of a misunderstanding." He denied however, that he put any pressure on his employees to contribute to the dinner, scheduled for this Thursday.

"There was no pressure, no solicitation, and whatever they wanted to do was in accordance with their own circumstances and their own positions," Gulick said.

The source within the agency said, "The tone of Gulick's remarks was that I'm a nice guy and I'm not going to do anything to you (if you don't contribute) but..."

"I've seen pressure before but this was the worst I've ever run into," he added.

Mrs. Jean Craig Given State Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Appointment of Jean T. Craig of Washington Court House as coordinator of youth activities in the Ohio Department of Natural Resources was announced today by Director Fred E. Morr.

Long a conservation and youth activities workers, Mrs. Craig now is finishing a term as conservation chairman of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs.

Peggy Fleming Signs Pro Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Peggy Fleming, world and Olympic figure skating queen, signed a professional contract today with long-term agreements expected to earn her $500,000 over the next five years.

The announcement was made at a New York news conference.

She signed with Bob Banner Associates and the National Broadcasting Company.

Asked if she would skate in ice shows under the arrangements, Miss Fleming replied: "Quite probably, but they will handle my affairs."

McCarthy, RFK On Collision Path

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

The untested preliminaries over, Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., head for a series of collisions that could boost Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's chance for the Democratic presidential nomination.

With his solid defeat of lame duck President Johnson in Tuesday's Wisconsin primary, McCarthy has served notice he is no interim candidate likely to be awed into submission to the Kennedy legend.

The Minnesota senator's feat in taking 57 per cent of the vote in a contest with a non-candidate president obviously convinced him that he has the political equipment to meet Kennedy head-on on any track.

It was with an air of a man spoiling for such a direct clash with his adversary that McCarthy told newsmen:

"Until Lyndon got out of it, it was like three-cushion billiards. Bobby could hit me only if he banked it off Lyndon. It was a case of who could hit Lyndon most and he seemed to be winning. Now he will have to hit me directly."

Kennedy seemed ready and willing to do just that. He congratulated McCarthy for demonstrating that "there is a good deal of opposition" to Johnson's Vietnam policies, which both oppose. But he suggested that Johnson's exit as a contestant helped McCarthy roll up his margin of victory.

Their first face to face encounter will come in Indiana's May 7 primary, with Gov. Roger D. Branigan also on the ticket as a favorite son.

Humphrey will be a bystander in other clashes in Nebraska, Oregon, California and South Dakota.

But if he gets into the race as he is generally expected to do, the vice president will have to contest with them for delegates chosen in state conventions.

As supporter of President Johnson's Vietnam policies, Humphrey stands to pick up backing from Democrats who don't agree with Kennedy and McCarthy that the United States should settle in negotiations for a coalition government in Saigon.

Post Office Work, Bids Set

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Post Office Department awarded a contract today to Frank E. Oberholzer of Ashland for a new post office in Perrysville, Ashland County.

At the same time, the department called for bids to build and lease a new building at Orient in Pickaway County. Bids are to be received by April 29.

Viet Bombing Area Defined

Terrain Extends 250 Miles North

SAIGON (AP) — President Johnson's order halting American bombing north of the 20th Parallel leaves 25 per cent of North Vietnam's area and about 10 per cent of its people still subject to attack.

More than 2 million of North Vietnam's estimated 20 million people live in the three and a half provinces still on the target map, an area that includes the southern panhandle and the densely populated plains around the cities of Thanh Hoa and Vinh.

These are the provinces of Quang Binh, Ha Tinh, Nghe An and the southern half of Thanh Hoa.

The area contains the main transit points for North Vietnamese troops and supplies moving south. It also contains almost half of North Vietnam's cultivated land, since the inland mountain area north of Hanoi is barren and sparsely populated. Rice and vegetables are the main crops.

Thanh Hoa and Vinh, the capital of Nghe An Province, are badly battered industrial centers and staging points. The main north-south Highway 1 runs through both. So does the old French Hanoi-Saigon railroad, part of which is still used by the Communists to move troops and supplies despite three years of American bombing and naval bombardment.

An important network of inland canals also runs down the panhandle parallel to the coast.

GI Sentenced For Sojourn In Sweden

FUERTH, Germany (AP) — Pvt. Roy Ray Jones, wearing the U.S. Army uniform he discarded last year for asylum in Sweden, was sentenced by a general court-martial today to four months at hard labor after it found him guilty of being absent without leave.

The 21-year-old Negro, the first Europe-based American soldier to be granted "humanitarian" asylum in Sweden because of avowed opposition to the Vietnam war, will also receive a bad conduct discharge and forfeit all pay and allowances.

Jones spoke only one word during the four-hour session: a prompt and loud "guilty" when the court asked how he would plead.

Jones, of Pontiac, Mich., left his unit in nearby Schwabach in January 1967. He and his German wife returned to Germany March 12 with their infant son.

Survey Shows Deep Split In Demo Political Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national disunity which President Johnson cited as the controlling factor in his withdrawal from the 1968 campaign extended far into the structure of his own Democratic party.

An Associated Press survey, carried out just ahead of the President's dramatic announcement, showed some 400—perhaps more—nominating convention votes that could be counted as at least probably anti-Johnson.

And there were eight audible rumblings or defections from Johnson by influential figures in states with enough national convention votes to knock Johnson forces down dangerously close to the 1,312 required for nomination.

Some of those trouble sounds were only faint murmurs, but there was definitely no prospect of a real convention landslide.

Johnson, in announcing his decision, did not discuss such political mathematics.

But it is likely that in measuring his well-used political yardstick, the AP survey that produced the widespread showing of actual or potential Johnson opposition was not pinned to the chief executive's withdrawal. It was an outgrowth of a simple head count, before Johnson's Sunday announcement, of Democratic state chairmen. It showed a virtual solid front for Johnson among the chairmen.

The next question was how much control the chairmen would have over their convention delegations and the more detailed study represented an effort to find out. Results were still trickling in after Johnson's withdrawal.

The big burden Johnson appeared destined to carry into the Chicago convention in August showed up in four states with a total of 480 convention votes—California with 172, Iowa with 46, Massachusetts with 72 and New York with 190.

Viet Reds OK Preliminary Talks With U.S.

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam said today it is ready to send representatives to meet with U.S. representatives to confirm U.S. readiness to halt all bombing of North Vietnam and cease all other military activity "as a condition for talking peace."

The statement, broadcast in Vietnamese and monitored and translated by the Japan Broadcasting Corp., noted that U.S. warplanes were "continuing to bomb important areas between the 17th and 20th parallels."

But, the translation said, "in order to be able to start talks," the Hanoi government "is prepared to send its representatives to meet with U.S. representatives to confirm" America's willingness to completely halt all bombing and stop all military action on the ground.

It said fulfillment of these conditions was necessary in order for peace talks to begin. The statement went on to call on "all progressive people of the United States" to support the drive for peace in Vietnam.

The 15-minute statement added that as long as the United States continues its "war of aggression," North Vietnam will continue to fight to defend North Vietnam, completely "liberate" South Vietnam and to reunify the country.

The statement apparently was an official answer to President Johnson's speech of Sunday.
Earlier official Hanoi newspapers hinted at rejection of the overture.

A State Department spokesman had no immediate comment on the Hanoi announcement and it was not immediately clear whether the United States would regard the North Vietnamese statement as responding to President Johnson's newest offer.

The radio broadcast, in the Vietnamese language, said as translated here:

It is clear that the U.S. government has not correctly and fully responded to the just demand of DRV (North Vietnamese) government, of U.S. progressive opinion, and of world opinion.

"However, on its part, the DRV government declares its readiness to send its representatives to make contact with U.S. representatives to decide with the U.S. side the unconditional cessation of bombing and all other war acts against the DRV so that talks could begin."

The North Vietnamese language broadcast arrived more than an hour ahead of a scheduled 11:15 a.m. EST announcement that Radio Hanoi had said it was going to make.

Presumably the North Vietnamese statement was to be an official response to Johnson's move for peace talks which he announced in his Sunday night speech.

Johnson said Sunday night he had ordered air and naval attacks on North Vietnam stopped "except in the area north of the Demilitarized Zone where the continuing enemy build-up directly threatens allied forward positions and where movements of troops and supplies are clearly related to that threat."

Johnson said he had ordered the cutback in the bombing as a unilateral act by the United States to induce North Vietnam to enter into negotiations to end the war.

In South Vietnam, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops have opened a drive to lift the North Vietnamese siege of the Marine base at Khe Sanh and have met no resistance, the American command said today.

The relief force was expected to push through soon to the battered fortress in the northwest, where 6,000 Marines and 1,000 South Vietnamese have been encircled since January by from 16,000 to 20,000 North Vietnamese regulars.

As this drive, which kicked off Monday, was announced, informed sources said that a Cambodian navy boat shot down a U. S. Navy plane on patrol off the west coast of South Vietnam.

The patrol plane was looking for gun-running Viet Cong trawlers in the Gulf of Siam. Its 10-man crew was missing.

Wisconsin Likes McCarthy, Nixon

Ex-Vee Gets 80 Per Cent, McCarthy, 57

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy, triumphant with 57 per cent of the vote in Wisconsin's prelude to battle, turned toward the arenas which pose the real test of his claim that he can win the White House.

And Richard M. Nixon added another trophy in his march toward the Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon built a towering 80 per cent of the Republican vote to match his showing in New Hampshire's opening primary three weeks ago. He had no real opposition in either race.

The former vice president said his showing proved that Wisconsin will be in the Republican column when the White House votes are counted next
Nov. 5.

With 3,112 of 3,291 precincts counted, this was the Democratic picture:

McCarthy 390,204 votes for 57
per cent of the party turnout;
Johnson 241,886 or 35 per cent.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the rival McCarthy will have to overcome if he is to be nominated, drew 6 per cent of the votes. But those were write-in votes, for his name was not on the ballot. And Kennedy had urged that people who favor him vote for McCarthy in Wisconsin.

Nixon's Republican landslide read this way, with 3,094 precincts counted:

Nixon 371,432, or 80 per cent;
California Gov. Ronald Reagan 48,968, or 11 per cent, habitual candidate Harold E. Stassen 27,281, or 6 per cent.

With that victory, Nixon captured 30 Wisconsin votes at the Republican national convention.
McCarthy won 17 Democratic votes with his state-wide victory, and another 32 by carrying eight congressional districts.

George C. Wallace, the former Alabama governor campaigning for president as an independent, drew scant support in Wisconsin's presidential primary Tuesday.

He had a scattering of votes in both party races. The count:
Wallace received 3,250 Democratic votes and 1,309 of the Republican total.

With the vote nearing completion, the Wallace share did not amount to even one per cent in either party.

Four years ago, Wallace collected 34 per cent of the Democratic vote running against then-Gov. John W. Reynolds, a stand-in for President Johnson.

Council Action Sought To Lighten Police Load

John Jenkins, chairman of Circleville City Council's safety committee, Tuesday asked his fellow solons to consider legislation which would alleviate the work load in the police department.

Jenkins proposed that a meter maid be hired by the city to relieve Patrolman Jack Mills of the duty of tending to the downtown parking meters.

He also noted that police frequently had to call a man off the streets to serve as a deputy clerk for the Circleville Municipal Court during hours when the court is closed.

Jenkins said the safety committee planned to meet with Judge Sterling Lamb to see if a fulltime deputy clerk could be employed to handle bond money for traffic violators arrested after the court closes.

JENKINS also asked that more men be trained to operate the city's breath-o-lyzer, used to determine whether or not a Patrolman Larry Pontious is presently the only officer

Jenkins noted and must be called in when not on duty.

In his report to council,
Jenkins noted that Harold Anderson, president of the city park board, had requested that a traffic light be placed at the intersection of Court St. and Rosewood Ave. Jenkins noted, however, that it would be his recommendation that a caution light be installed, not a traffic light.

He also asked that the city purchase a ladder truck to use to repair traffic lights. At present, the service department places a wood scaffold in the rear of a truck to make the repairs. Jenkins stated the present arrangement is dangerous and recommended that action be taken before a city employee is seriously injured or killed by a fall from the scaffold.

He also recommended that a copy machine be purchased for the city police department.

Noble Barr gave a brief report on his attendance at the also aired a complaint registered with him by Steve Mathews who said work to install a curb and gutter at his

COUNCILMAN Dave

Crawford noted they were

Lancaster Gets Dayton Slaying Trial

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Montgomery County Common Pleas Judge J. Paul Benton has ordered the second-degree murder trial of Wilbur Wright Dixon, accused of the fatal stabbing of Wilbur Wright High School Coach Thomas Prinz, moved to Lancaster in Fairfield County.

The case has been scheduled on the Fairfield County Common Pleas Court docket for April 22.

Benton said he felt Dixon could not receive a fair trial in Dayton.

The 19-year-old Dixon was charged originally with first-degree manslaughter but the charge was changed to second-degree murder after the case was presented to the grand jury.

Prinz was stabbed eight times last Sept. 26. Witnesses said Prinz approached Dixon and asked him to leave a football practice field because he was not a student and was allegedly creating a disturbance.

Witnesses also said Prinz picked Dixon up, threw him over his shoulder and walked about 10 yards with him off the field when he was stabbed with a 10-inch Bowie knife.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI has opened a criminal investigation into an accusation that the head of the Maritime Administration summoned 79 of his top-salary employees to a business-hours meeting and pressured them to contribute to the Democratic party.

The charge was made last week to The Associated Press by a high-level employee of the agency who said Acting Administrator James W. Gulick held the meeting March 21 in a conference room near his office in the General Accounting Office building.

At the meeting, the employee said, Gulick told those present that each would have to decide for himself how to respond to invitations to a $250-a-place Democratic fund-raising dinner, then added:

"If you want to make sure that you have a nice, clean file —and you can be sure that a file is kept somewhere—you know what to do."

Such action would violate election law prohibiting a federal employee from soliciting political contributions from another federal employee on federal property, a Justice Department official told The Associated Press on Tuesday.

The FBI moved into the case
Monday at the request of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, the official said. He declined to speculate on the length or outcome of the probe.

Gulick has acknowledged calling the meeting on March 21. He also said a second meeting was called the next day because "I heard of the possibility of a misunderstanding." He denied however, that he put any pressure on his employees to contribute to the dinner, scheduled for this Thursday.

"There was no pressure, no solicitation, and whatever they wanted to do was in accordance with their own circumstances and their own positions," Gulick said.

The source within the agency said, "The tone of Gulick's remarks was that I'm a nice guy and I'm not going to do anything to you (if you don't contribute) but..."

"I've seen pressure before but this was the worst I've ever run into," he added.

Peggy Fleming Signs Pro Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Peggy Fleming, world and Olympic
professional contract today with long-term agreements expected to earn her $500,000 over the next five years.

The announcement was made at a New York news conference.

She signed with Bob Banner Associates and The National Broadcasting Company.

Asked if she would skate in ice shows under the arrangements, Miss Fleming replied:
"Quite probably, but they will handle my affairs."

DEMOCRACY (DEMOCRATS) AT WORK — Campaigning with a new vigor after President Johnson's withdrawal from the presidential race, Democrats Sen. Eugene McCarthy (left) of Minnesota tells a news conference in Milwaukee that he hopes the President's shift in Vietnam policy would be a first step toward peace; and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (right) of New York tells newsmen in New York City that Mr. Johnson's act was "truly magnanimous."

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

The uncontested preliminaries over, Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., head for a series of collisions that could boost Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's chance for the Democratic presidential nomination.

With his solid defeat of lame duck President Johnson in Tuesday's Wisconsin primary, McCarthy has served notice he is no interim candidate likely to be awed into submission to the Kennedy legend.

The Minnesota senator's feat in taking 57 per cent of the vote in a contest with a non-candidate president obviously convinced him that he has the political equipment to meet Kennedy head-on on any track.

It was with an air of a man spoiling for such a direct clash with his adversary that McCarthy told newsmen:

"Until Lyndon got out of it, it was like three-cushion billiards.

Bobby could hit me only if he banked it off Lyndon. It was a case of who could hit Lyndon most and he seemed to be winning. Now he will have to hit me directly."

Kennedy seemed ready and willing to do just that. He congratulated McCarthy for demonstrating that "there is a good deal of opposition" to Johnson's Vietnam policies, which both oppose. But he suggested that Johnson's exit as a contestant helped McCarthy roll up his margin of victory.

Their first face to face encounter will come in Indiana's May 7 primary, with Gov. Roger D. Branigan also on the ticket as a favorite son.

Humphrey will be a bystander
in other clashes in Nebraska, Oregon, California and South Dakota.

But if he gets into the race as he is generally expected to do, the vice president will have to contest with them for delegates chosen in state conventions.

As supporter of President
Johnson's Vietnam policies, Humphrey stands to pick up backing from Democrats who don't agree with Kennedy and McCarthy that the United States should settle in negotiations for a coalition government in Saigon.

Post Office Work, Bids Set

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Post Office Department awarded a contract today to Frank E. Oberholtzer of Ashland for a new post office in Perryville, Ashland County.

At the same time, the department called for bids to build and lease a new building at Orient in Pickaway County. Bids are to be received by April 29.

Survey Shows Deep Split In Demo Political Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national disunity which President Johnson cited as the controlling factor in his withdrawal from the 1968 campaign extended far into the structure of his own Democratic party.

An Associated Press survey, carried out just ahead of the President's dramatic announcement, showed some 400—perhaps more—nominating convention votes that could be counted as at least probably anti-Johnson.

And there were eight audible rumblings or defections from Johnson by influential figures in states with enough national convention votes to knock Johnson forces down dangerously close to the 1,312 required for nomination.

Some of those trouble sounds were only faint murmurs, but there was definitely no prospect of a real convention landslide.

Johnson, in announcing his decision, did not discuss such political mathematics.

But it is likely that in measuring his problems, he employed his well-used political yardstick.

The AP survey that produced the widespread showing of actual or potential Johnson opposition was not pinned to the chief executive's withdrawal. It was an outgrowth of a simple head count, before Johnson's Sunday announcement, of Democratic state chairmen. It showed a virtual solid front for Johnson among the chairmen.

The next question was how much control the chairmen would have over their convention delegations and the more detailed study represented an effort to find out. Results were still trickling in after Johnson's withdrawal.

The big burden Johnson appeared destined to carry into the Chicago convention in August showed up in four states with a total of 480 convention votes—California with 172, Iowa with 46, Massachusetts with 72 and New York with 190.

Viet Bombing Area Defined

Terrain Extends 250 Miles North

SAIGON (AP) — President
Johnson's order halting American bombing north of the 20th parallel leaves 25 per cent of North Vietnam's area and about 10 per cent of its people still subject to attack.

More than 2 million of North Vietnam's estimated 20 million people live in the three and a half provinces still on the target map, an area that includes the southern panhandle and the densely populated plains around the cities of Thanh Hoa and Vinh.

These are the provinces of Quang Binh, Ha Tinh, Nghe An
and the southern half of Thanh Hoa.

The area contains the main transit points for North Vietnamese troops and supplies moving south. It also contains almost half of North Vietnam's cultivated land, since the inland mountain area north of Hanoi is barren and sparsely populated.
Rice and vegetables are the main crops.

Thanh Hoa and Vinh, the capital of Nghe An Province, are badly battered industrial centers and staging points. The main north-south Highway 1 runs through both. So does the old French Hanoi-Saigon railroad, part of which is still used by the Communists to move troops and supplies despite three years of American bombing and naval bombardment.

An important network of inland canals also runs down the panhandle parallel to the coast.

FUERTH, Germany (AP) —
Pvt. Roy Ray Jones, wearing the U.S. Army uniform he discarded last year for asylum in Sweden, was sentenced by a general court-martial today to four months at hard labor after it found him guilty of being absent without leave.

The 21-year-old Negro, the first Europe-based American soldier to be granted "humanitarian" asylum in Sweden because of avowed opposition to the Vietnam war, will also receive a bad conduct discharge and forfeit all pay and allowances.

Jones spoke only one word during the four-hour session: a prompt and loud "guilty" when the court asked how he would plead.

his unit in nearby Schwabach in January 1967. He and his German wife returned to Germany
March 12 with their infant son.

Dr. Conrad Writes
Chapter for Book

Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad, a Circleville podiatrist, is a contributing author to a volume just released by publishers Lea and Febiger entitled "Principles and Practice of Podiatry."

Her chapter concerns clinical pathology as related to podiatry. The book is edited by Dr. Frank Weinstein of Alberta, Canada.

explained the suit brought by the County Board of Commissioners to obtain a clear title to memorial hall and the city's part in the action.

Circleville has a lease on the building to operate a library. However, the library is operated by the county. The commissioners, in an effort to get a clear title, have filed a suit asking that the lease be terminated.

Mayor Gerhardt called council's attention to the "one-man, one-vote rule" by the United States Supreme Court as it applies to local governments. He said the new supreme court ruling will affect Circleville.

A COMMUNICATION from the mayor explaining his veto action of an ordinance providing for a pay increase for Clerk Robert Shadley was read. Shadley asked council not to overrule the veto since he had been informed that the pay increase would be illegal.

COUNCIL BRIEFS
Noble Barr is the "watchdog of city council." Last night he questioned Mayor Richard Gerhardt and service director Earl Radcliff closely on a purchase of stamps by the service department. Barr indicated the amount of stamps purchased was unnecessarily great. Mayor Gerhardt responded by saying, "I'm sure they are not throwing the stamps in the waste basket."

Safety Director Robert Adkins told Council Clerk Shadley he was sorry that the clerk's raise did not go through. "I got my pacheck yesterday," Adkins said, "and I thought it was a dip."

Ch'ef of Police Robert Temple announced that a sale of bicycles and other unclaimed articles that have been accumulating in the Police Department for a number of years will be held soon.

John Jenkins asked the mayor to request that the Circleville Post Office place a light over the "drive-in" mail box located in the alley just north of the post office.

Jenkins also requested that the city health department investigate the "Ye olde outhouse" used at the Norfolk and Western Railroad Station. "It's probably the only one still in use in the city," Jenkins said.

The third ward council seat is still empty. Council President Joe Bell said it will be filled by the next meeting. At least five names have been listed as possible candidates, Bell indicated.

City Solicitor Charles Hosterman was not present at the council meeting.

Man Bound To Grand Jury For False Report

Donald Gray pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Tuesday to a charge of making a false report to Circleville police concerning the supposed stealing of his auto transmission.

Gray, of Irwin, Pa., removed his own transmission, hid the parts around the county and then reported it stolen in hopes of receiving enough insurance money to buy a new one, according to local police.

He was bound to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond by Acting Judge Allan Berger.

Those arrested March 15 were Dang Gan Thu, national chief of the organization; Le Van Kha, inspector general of the group, who once was associated with a Buddhist group that tried to depose Ky when he was premier, and Le Van Thanh, head of Anticorruption Youth in Gia Dinh Province.

Ten other officers of the Gia

Dinh section were arrested on charges of draft dodging. Another 600 members, accused of buying fraudulent draft exemption papers from the arrested men, have been called into the army.

The three top leaders are charged with misappropriation of government funds and the

a one-month campaign to clear garbage from Saigon's streets.

The youth minister and officials of Anticorruption Youth say the organization received only a little over a million piasters, or about $8,500. But informed sources say the group spent less than 200,000 piasters for a few days' cleanup.

"On the first day of the garbage collection campaign, there were 300 Anticorruption Youth out on the streets working," one official says. "The second day there were 70. On the third day there were 30 and after that we stopped counting."

Do Dien Nhl, the new head of the youth organization, says 1,000 members worked for three weeks cleaning the streets. He estimates that only 100,000 piasters were illegally diverted.

Early last year Ky gave 100 eight-passenger buses to the group. It was to rent the buses to drivers and turn the money over to the Vinaco Co., importers of the buses, as payment for them.

Much of the daily rent money was diverted.

Nhi says it was donated to men running for Parliament last autumn.

"Some of the candidates have paid the money back," Nhi said, "and I have paid Vinaco. We still owe Vinaco 1.5 million piasters."

Nhi said Vice President Ky had ordered the group to reorganize. "Mr. Ky is very angry," he said.

Dr. Conrad Writes Chapter for Book

Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad, a Circleville podiatrist, is a contributing author to a volume just released by publishers Lea and Febiger entitled "Principles and Practice of Podiatry."

Her chapter concerns clinical pathology as related to podiatry. The book is edited by Dr. Frank Weinstein of Alberta, Canada.

Bow- and -arrow competition will be included in the 1968 Summer Olympics for the first time.

explained the suit brought by the County Board of Commissioners to obtain a clear title to memorial hall and the city's part in the action.

Circleville has a lease on the building to operate a library. However, the library is operated by the county. The commissioners, in an effort to get a clear title, have filed a suit asking that the lease be terminated.

Mayor Gerhardt called council's attention to the "one-man, one-vote rule" by the United States Supreme Court as it applies to local governments. He said the new supreme court ruling will affect Circleville.

A COMMUNICATION from the mayor explaining his veto action of an ordinance providing for a pay increase for Clerk Robert Shadley was read. Shadley asked council not to override the veto since he had been informed that the pay increase would be illegal.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Noble Barr is the "watchdog of city council." Last night he questioned Mayor Richard Gerhardt and service director Earl Radcliff closely on a purchase of stamps by the service department. Barr indicated the amount of stamps purchased was unnecessarily great. Mayor Gerhardt responded by saying, "I'm sure they are not throwing the stamps in the waste basket."

Safety Director Robert Adkins told Council Clerk Shadley he was sorry the clerk's raise did not go through. "I got my paycheck yesterday," Adkins said, "and I thought it was a tip."

Ch'ef of Police Robert Temple announced that a sale of bicycles and other unclaimed articles that have been accumulating in the Police Department for a number of years will be held soon.

John Jenkins asked the mayor to request that the Circleville Post Office place a light over the "drive-in" mail box located in the alley just north of the post office.

Jenkins also requested that the city health department investigate the "Ye olde outhouse" used at the Norfolk and Western Railroad Station. "It's probably the only one still in use in the city," Jenkins said.

The third ward council seat is still empty. Council President Joe Bell said it will be filled by the next meeting. At least five names have been listed as possible candidates, Bell indicated.

City Solicitor Charles Hosterman was not present at the council meeting.

Man Bound To Grand Jury For False Report

Donald Gray pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Tuesday to a charge of making a false report to Circleville police concerning the supposed stealing of his auto transmission.

Gray, of Irwin, Pa., removed his own transmission, hid the parts around the county and then reported it stolen in hopes of receiving enough insurance money to buy a new one, according to local police.

He was bound to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond by Acting Judge Allan Berger.

Find Graft in Viet Anti-Graft Group

SAIGON (AP) — A youth group whose 32,000 members are supposed to expose fraud and corruption is having trouble. Its top leaders have been arrested for fraud and corruption.

The black-shirted Anticorruption Youth was founded in 1965 by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky when he was youth minister and premier. The organization is still under his wing, and he is reported greatly angered that the leaders fell into evil ways.

Those arrested March 15 were Dang Gan Thu, national chief of the organization; Le Van Kha, inspector general of the group, who once was associated with a Buddhist group that tried to depose Ky when he was premier, and Le Van Thanh, head of Anticorruption Youth in Gia Dinh Province.

Ten other officers of the Gia

Dinh section were arrested on charges of draft dodging. Another 600 members, accused of buying fraudulent draft exemption papers from the arrested men, have been called into the army.

The three top leaders are charged with misappropriation of government funds and the sale of fake draft exemption cards. The number of exemption cards involved is not known, but the price ran as high as 75,000 piasters, or $635. Also unclear is whether the draft exemptions were valid, which would mean complicity of government officials, or whether they were forgeries.

There are other charges against the youth group.

Early in January the Ministry of Youth was ordered by some unidentified official high in the government to pay Anticorruption Youth 6 million piasters for a one-month campaign to clear garbage from Saigon's streets.

The youth minister and officials of Anticorruption Youth say the organization received only a little over a million piasters, or about $85,000. But informed sources say the group spent less than 200,000 piasters for a few days' cleanup.

"On the first day of the garbage collection campaign, there were 300 Anticorruption Youth out on the streets working," one official says. "The second day there were 70. On the third day there were 30 and after that we stopped counting."

Do Dien Nhi, the new head of the youth organization, says 1,000 members worked for three weeks cleaning the streets. He estimates that only 100,000 piasters were illegally diverted.

Early last year Ky gave 100 eight-passenger buses to the group. It was to rent the buses to drivers and turn the money over to the Vinaco Co., importers of the buses, as payment for them.

Much of the daily rent money was diverted. Nhi says it was donated to men running for Parliament last autumn.

"Some of the candidates have paid the money back," Nhi said, "and I have paid Vinaco. We still owe Vinaco 1.5 million piasters."

Nhi said Vice President Ky had ordered the group to reorganize. "Mr. Ky is very angry," he said.

Crisis Continues

Among those most avidly interested in efforts to stabilize the dollar and the pound and end dangerous gambling in gold is the world's leading numismatist. He specializes in U. S. gold, and no individual has more.

As Old Charlie fondles his hoard in his Paris lair and plots new moves to scuttle efforts by Washington and London to stabilize the world monetary situation, he must at times wonder whether he is not in the grip of nightmarish senility. And then he hears hallucinatory strains of The Marseillaise.

De Gaulle had to have plenty of help, but he contributed mightily to monetary events of recent days. They were the culmination of what he had been striving for for many months.

His pleasure at developments became evident when he ordered the Paris gold market kept open when the London mart closed.

No one should be surprised if Washington and London find it necessary to adopt a special course of action as regards De Gaulle. He will go all out to scuttle any generalized moves that might also apply to him.

But it is inconceivable that he will be permitted to continue to attempt to endanger the economy of the world by engaging in a crazy dream of grandeur.

Save the American City

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The things that change the flavor of our lives creep upon us unawares. In the Nineteen Thirties, when it was fashionable to predict the doom of the enterprise system, who would have gone out on a limb to say that the first small electronics, chemical, and air space investments would surely flower in a great boom in the Nineteen Fifties?

And who, today, would predict a renaissance of American city life? The big chain stores move to the suburbs; the neighborhood press replaces the metropolitan newspaper; a California major league baseball team, the Angels, builds its permanent stadium in an unheard of place called Anaheim. The white middle classes deserted the central cities long ago, leaving a vacuum that has been filled by 12,000,000 Negroes from the rural South. The Negroes themselves regard their slums as way stations; hence the drive for "open housing," which, so the prophecy runs, will bring them out into the suburbs too.

The city, however, is needed for many reasons, not the least of which is the entertainment of people who become bored with the cultural diffusion of the suburbs, where the "best" is not available for thousands in small space. You can't have the live reality of the Broadway theatre simultaneously in Greenwich, Conn., Syracuse, N. Y., and Dubuque, Iowa, nor is Mickey Mantle a divisible baseball property. The problem is how to get to Broadway or the Yankee Stadium without wasting hours in parking the car and tramping to box offices. But the flavor of life is already changing here: in years to come you will be able to have "instant" tickets, ordered from practically anywhere in the United States or even in foreign capitals by means of a network of computer-operated electronic ticket dispensers. There'll be no waiting in line, no telephone calls, no trips from a sold-out theatre box office to the ticket scalper, no waiting for the mails.

The new system is already in use at New York's Grand Central Terminal, where the New York Yankees maintain a box office. It hasn't been widely advertised, for the Yankees can't very well go on a "full" electronic box office system until enough individual dispensing machines have been made to "write" tickets all over the country after "conferences" with a central computerized memory bank. But ten thousand out of every sixty thousand daily tickets to Yankee games will be electronically provided this year, giving a visitor an electronic box office instant access to the best seat available on a first-come, first-served basis.

The man who presides over the new Ticket Reservation Systems, Inc., a Mr. Jack Quinn, claims that his company is offering the first major innovation in ticket selling "since William Shakespeare invented the reserved seat." It isn't exactly a new system, for the air lines have been selling tickets on an automated electronic basis for some time now. But even the air lines use pen and pencil to fill out tickets once the computerized memory bank has been consulted to ascertain what space is still available.

something for the future to tell. But something should be done to bring Broadway into the modern world. Of its thirty-four theatres, ten of them are usually dark at any given moment. There are never more than five sellouts, and the average is usually three. Broadway never likes to call attention to its empty seats for fear the word will get around that some new eggs are in process of being laid. But if seats were instantly available at supermarkets in Greenwich, Conn., and Paramus, New Jersey, and at airports in Los Angeles, Chicago, and London, wouldn't the Broadway eggs become fewer?

The cost of the electronic box office, according to Mr. Quinn, can be met out of money saved on printing bills, for no ticket will have to be printed in advance of sale. Moreover, there will be no need to save and store bushels of unsold tickets for five years just to be able to prove to Internal Revenue that you aren't cheating the government.

Cost aside, anything calculated to ease our access to the advantages of city life is a harbinger of revolution. The suburbs, can't provide everything, and the space for suburban living is dwindling anyway.

THE MANAGER of Atlantic City's Steel Pier was reminiscing about the days when he was booking big name bands like Tommy Dorsey's and Paul Whiteman's and conducting them with current big rock 'n' roll combos.

"When I signed contracts in the good old days with the bandleaders," he recalled, "I didn't have to get their guardians' consent."

This is a story worth reflection that is told by Rev. Purnell Bailey. In pre-Communist China, a farmer lost his axe, and immediately suspected his neighbor's young son. Thereafter he watched the lad very carefully. Every time he passed by he looked guilty, and more anxious to escape attention. Then one day the farmer found his axe, tossed absentmindedly in an old bin in his barn. The next time the neighbor's boy came by, there was no air of guilt whatever about him. He walked upright, and was humming a gay tune. "What a fine boy that is!" mused the farmer, as he shouldered his axe.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What is meant by bronchiectasis (bronchi-ecta-sis) of the lungs?

Bronchiectasis is one of a group of lung conditions that is taking its toll of the health and vitality of people all over the country. In this group is included chronic bronchitis and emphysema.

The combination of chronic infection, air pollution and lung pollution with cigarettes is a deadly one. Thousands of people are now unserviceable and sick because of these chronic lung ailments.

Bronchiectasis is a widening of the bronchi, or the tubes, which lead from the trachea into the lungs. The result is that a large quantity of stagnant mucus and pus collects and interferes with normal breathing.

Occasionally, a child is born with congenital bronchiectasis of the lungs. More often it is due to pneumonia, tuberculosis, whooping cough or chronic irritation of the lining of the bronchi.

Almost always the symptoms are some form of chronic cough with expectoration of large quantities of infected material. Sometimes there is some associated asthma, both as a cause and as an aftermath of this disorder.

The diagnosis is made by X-ray examinations of the lung, using a special opaque dye to outline the smaller bronchial tubes. A bronchoscope is sometimes inserted directly into the lungs to definitely establish the diagnosis.

The treatment is based on clearing up infections with modern antibiotics and the removal of irritants like tobacco smoke and air pollution. There are now many types of exercise and postural drainage of the lungs which make breathing less difficult.

The use of oxygen and special drugs can help reduce the excessive secretions. Surgery for the removal of severely diseased portions of the lung is very effective in carefully chosen cases. The objective of modern medicine is the prevention of these respiratory diseases because the cure is so difficult when once the disease sets in.

Is there such a medical condition called the plague or is it a biblical term?

The plague is most definitely a medical disease of grave importance. Its biblical significance undoubtedly stems from the fact that its causes, prevention and treatment were unknown many centuries ago and the resultant epidemic and deaths were devastating.

Plague is known by other names like pestis, black plague and bubonic plague. Under any name this is a severe, progressive disease that starts with chills and fever and is immediately followed by a tremendous feeling of weakness and prostration.

Later the lymph nodes become swollen and form buboes. The germ which causes this is called the Pasteurella pestis.

Almost always humans contract the disease from animals, especially rodents. Sometimes fleas and ticks can transmit the disease to humans.

One human being can infect another. Prevention depends almost entirely on scrupulous control of rodents and fleas.

Modern hygienic control has reduced the frequency of this severe disease so that it is only seen in underprivileged areas. Rarely is there a case of bubonic plague in civilized, health controlled areas.

Today the mortality rate has been reduced from 90 per cent to about 5 per cent by the use of vaccines and active treatment with antibiotics and sulfa drugs.

The World Today

By JOHN BECKLER (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — The appearance of unity in the Republican party with Richard M. Nixon breezing along toward the presidential nomination obscures deep divisions in the party on issues before Congress.

In the big fight over spending cuts, a sizable group of House Republicans is trying to counter the meat-ax approach favored by the GOP leaders with a plan to plow some savings into programs to help the cities.

The group has set up a staff, conducted hearings and welded a program of cuts totaling $6.5 billion, of which $2.5 billion would be used to expand programs to meet "urgent human needs and the urban crisis."

"We need a new set of priorities," says Rep. Charles E. Goodell of upstate New York, a leader of the effort, "one that recognizes the enormous financial difficulties facing us but which also recognizes the terrible human waste which is resulting from past and current inattention."

About 40 Republicans, mostly younger ones and those from the suburbs, have indicated an interest in such an approach. But the party hierarchy is lined up solidly behind a move to slash spending without permitting any increases.

On no issue, however, is the split in Republican ranks sharper than on the open-housing provision in the Senate-passed civil rights bill now before the House.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the GOP boss in the House, is insisting the bill be sent to a conference with the Senate to seek a compromise on the housing section. He has a majority of the Republicans with him, but Rep. Clark MacGregor of suburban Minneapolis, who wants the Senate bill accepted, says as many as 45 per cent of the 187 House Republicans are prepared to desert Ford and vote for the bill.

Ford's refusal to go along with the Senate bill also puts him at odds with his party's leader in the Senate, Everett M. Dirksen, who played a key role in breaking a Southern filibuster to get the bill passed.

Before New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller became a primary campaign dropout the division on both the urban and civil rights issues followed roughly the split among members favoring Nixon or Rockefeller for the presidential nomination.

Rockefeller's supporters felt it would be a calamity for the Republican party, needing urban support, to go into a presidential election without a clear-cut record of support for the Senate bill, particularly with George C. Wallace siphoning off Southern votes.

Now, civil rights leaders are urging Nixon to see if he can't get Ford to change his mind and accept the Senate bill.

Just as Rockefeller avoided openly tangling with Nixon in the name of party unity, so the divisions on issues are muted in the House.

But they are there, and if the Republicans should know the luxury of being the majority party in the next Congress, they will be hard to keep hidden.

James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is ill.

NEW YORK (AP) — Nostalgia has always been one of man's favorite pastimes—at any age, in all eras.

The growing child reads fairy tales that begin with the immortal words, "Once upon a time." He is very curious about his own brief past, and is vastly entertained when his parents tell him anecdotes about his infancy.

Adults, of course, tend to spend more time recalling yesterday than they do in planning for tomorrow. After all, no matter how rough it may have been, yesterday is safer. We are more comfortable with yesterday than we are with tomorrow because we have endured its threats and survived its perils. It consoles us more than it hurts us.

The past is so popular today that there now is even a Nostalgia Book Club which each month recommends to its members new books about bygone days and historic figures.

A dollar bill was as good as gold.

The usual reason a fellow grew a mustache was to hide the fact he had a hare lip.

The idea of putting radios in cars was opposed on the grounds that they would distract drivers and cause more accidents.

A proud wife never was defeated by family poverty as long as she was able to keep clean white lace curtains hanging in the front windows of her home.

Only the very, very idle rich had French poodles as pets.

You knew you were in a house of gentility and pretensions to culture if the parlor contained two goldfish and at least one canary. But the dream of every little boy was to own a brightly colored parrot that would startle starched ladies with its terrible swearing.

During a small town Fourth of July parade, it touched your heart with awe to see the few time-bent veterans of the Civil War go by, and to think that these same men had once been young and eager and had shook the land in their glory.

Most butchers wore straw hats on the job and had a pencil stuck behind an ear. They wrapped the meat in rough "butcher paper" instead of sticky plastic.

Just 40 years ago—in 1928—physical culturist Bernarr MacFadden sternly warned bachelors: "If you are looking for future happiness, avoid the girls who wear high heels." That same year two Mickeys made their screen debuts—Mickey Rooney and Mickey Mouse.

A juvenile delinquent was a schoolboy who put a hophead in a girl's lunchbox.

In 1929 Herbert Hoover banished seven riding horses from the White House stables as a government economy measure. On Oct. 25—four days before the "Black Tuesday" on which the stock market collapsed—he issued a statement declaring, "The fundamental business of the country is on a sound and prosperous basis."

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Crisis Continues

Among those most avidly interested in efforts to stabilize the dollar and the pound and end dangerous gambling in gold is the world's leading numismatist. He specializes in U. S. gold, and no individual has more.

As Old Charlie fondles his hoard in his Paris lair and plots new moves to scuttle efforts by Washington and London to stabilize the world monetary situation, he must at times wonder whether he is not in the grip of nightmarish senility. And then he hears hallucinatory strains of The Marseillaise.

De Gaulle had to have plenty of help, but he contributed mightily to monetary events of recent days. They were the culmination of what he had been striving for for many months.

His pleasure at developments became evident when he ordered the Paris gold market kept open when the London mart closed.

No one should be surprised if Washington and London find it necessary to adopt a special course of action as regards De Gaulle. He will go all out to scuttle any generalized moves that might also apply to him.

But it is inconceivable that he will be permitted to continue to attempt to endanger the economy of the world by engaging in a crazy dream of grandeur.

Save the American City

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The things that change the flavor of our lives creep upon us unawares. In the Nineteen Thirties, when it was fashionable to predict the doom of the enterprise system, who would have gone out on a limb to say that the first small electronics, chemical, and air space investments would surely flower in a great boom in the Nineteen Fifties?

And who, today, would predict a renaissance of American city life? The big chain stores move to the suburbs; the neighborhood press replaces the metropolitan newspaper; a California major league baseball team, the Angels, builds its permanent stadium in an unheard of place called Anaheim. The white middle classes deserted the central cities long ago, leaving a vacuum that has been filled by 12,000,000 Negroes from the rural South. The Negroes themselves regard their slums as way stations; hence the drive for "open housing," which, so the prophecy runs, will bring them out into the suburbs too.

The city, however, is needed for many reasons, not the least of which is the entertainment of people who become bored with the cultural diffusion of the suburbs, where the "best" is not available for thousands in small space. You can't have the live reality of the Broadway theatre simultaneously in Greenwich, Conn., Syracuse, N. Y., and Duquesne, Iowa, nor is Mickey Mantle a divisible baseball property. The problem is how to get to Broadway or the Yankee Stadium without wasting hours in parking the car and tramping to box offices. But the flavor of life is already changing here; in years to come you will be able to have "instant" tickets, ordered from practically anywhere in the United States or even in foreign capitals by means of a network of computer-operated electronic ticket dispensers. There'll be no waiting in line, no telephone calls, no trips from a sold-out theatre box office to the ticket scalper, no waiting for the mails.

The new system is already in use at New York's Grand Central Terminal, where the New York Yankees maintain a box office. It hasn't been widely advertised, for the Yankees can't very well go on a "full" electronic box office system until enough individual dispensing machines have been made to "write" tickets all over the country after "conferences" with a central computerized memory bank. But ten thousand out of every sixty thousand daily tickets to Yankee games will be electronically provided this year, giving a visitor an electronic box office instant access to the best seat available on a first-come, first-served basis.

The man who presides over the new Ticket Reservation Systems, Inc., a Mr. Jack Quinn, claims that his company is offering the first major innovation in ticket selling "since William Shakespeare invented the reserved seat." It isn't exactly a new system, for the air lines have been selling tickets on an automated electronic basis for some time now. But even the air lines use pen and pencil to fill out tickets once the computerized memory bank has been consulted to ascertain what space is still available.

something for the future to tell. But something should be done to bring Broadway into the modern world. Of its thirty-four theatres, ten of them are usually dark at any given moment. There are never more than five sellouts, and the average is usually three. Broadway never likes to call attention to its empty seats for fear the word will get around that some new eggs are in process of being laid. But if seats were instantly available at supermarkets in Greenwich, Conn., and Paramus, New Jersey, and at airports in Los Angeles, Chicago, and London, wouldn't the Broadway eggs become fewer?

The cost of the electronic box office, according to Mr. Quinn, can be met out of money saved on printing bills, for no ticket will have to be printed in advance of sale. Moreover, there will be no need to save and store bushels of unsold tickets for five years just to be able to prove to Internal Revenue that you aren't cheating the government.

Cost aside, anything calculated to ease our access to the advantages of city life is a harbinger of revolution. The suburbs can't provide everything, and the space for suburban living is dwindling anyway.

Elvis Flick Is Romp

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is Elvis Presley asking for more criticism?

When the Memphis rock 'n' roll pioneer burst upon the scene 12 years ago, girls shrieked and swooned—and some editorials and sermons denounced his hip gyrations as "lewd and obscene." Camera-men were told to focus above his waist.

Presley explained: "When I sing, I just start jumping." But that image of a swinging "Elvis the Pelvis" gradually faded into one of a clean-cut, clean-living youth. Helping the transition were Army service, religious recordings including his million-seller album "How Great Thou Art" and, perhaps paradoxically, his movies.

Says a Presley director: "He has never made a dirty picture." An MGM spokesman has said: "They never go to bed in a Presley picture."

But now, in his two latest films, they DO go to bed.

In "Stay Away, Joe," dialogue implies that Joan Blondell, 58, has been the older-woman-in-his-life. She breaks up an on-the-bed romp—clothed—involving Elvis and pretty teenager Quintin Dean.

In "Live a Little, Love a Little," now being filmed, he has several "dammit" and a "how-the-hell" or two in his dialogue. He arises from a bed recently shared, the plot makes clear, with shapely Michele Carey.

Isn't all this inviting new blasts from the Far Righteous? Elvis chuckled. "I dunno," he said. "I was wondering about that, too." Still he claimed: "I don't think I'm changing my image. I think you have to mature a little bit."

The studio production department forbids long interviews with the millionaire singer-actor because he's in 90 per cent of the scenes. From associates who seek clues to the continuing popularity that has brought phonograph-records sales of more than 100 million copies and stardom in, to date, 28 movies.

Norman Taurog, directing his ninth Presley film: "Elvis has matured. His outlook on life has changed. He enjoys his work, reads quite a bit and analyzes a script better than ever."

Producer Doug Laurence: "I don't know where this boy's capabilities end."

Costar Michele Carey: "He's very sweet."

Presley emerges from his big trailer dressing-room. He's 33, tall, with moody face, polite manners, soft voice and a thick thatch of shiny black hair that erupts backward with no part. He wears a red turtleneck sweater, tight, cream-colored pants and black boots, smokes a thin cigar and carries a bottle of soft drink.

And what does the onetime truck driver himself think his appeal is?

"It beats me," says Elvis.

"I've had a lot of loyal fans."

His records still sell well?

"Yes, sir. I'm not exactly on top of the list but I've been lucky."

He "sirs" everybody and still calls his director "Mr. Taurog."

He'll "probably" return home to Memphis for about a month between this movie and his next. His wife Priscilla and 3-month-old daughter Lisa Marie are "fine."

Traffic Congestion Under Government Attack, Scrutiny

By JACK MILLER Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials are saying privately they believe the nation's largest cities soon will have to place harsh restrictions on when and where people can drive.

Some officials suggest that entire sections of central cities will have to be placed off limits to motor vehicles. The reason: traffic congestion is threatening to choke the remaining life out of the already sick cities.

Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd put it this way in an interview: "There isn't enough money in the United States (to build a street and highway system) to allow everybody to go everywhere they want to at any time of the day" in and around the big urban areas.

Secretary Robert C. Weaver of the Department of Housing and Urban Development—HUD—points out, however, that to question the freedom of every American to drive anywhere he wants "is politically dangerous, since each car owner—and they are legion—has already decided the answer."

But many officials questioned in a series of interviews said they believe the issue will have to be faced. And soon.

For despite new efforts by government and industry, they say, the gloomy prognosis is this: urban traffic congestion will get even worse for at least the next several years.

The government, which helped bring the country to its present heavy reliance on automobiles through the federal aid highway program, now is trying to reverse the trend. It has been pouring money into existing transit systems to improve and modernize them. And it has begun cranking up a research program to find new ways of moving people and goods around urban areas.

The aim is to develop and revive public transportation—mainly buses and trains—as a greater alternative to travel by car.

Boyd, whose agency is the first ever to be given overall responsibility for the transportation needs of the country, has suggested a number of changes the cities might make to relieve the horrors of congestion. One is that each city or urban area regulate that parking rates be set to go up rather than down for each additional hour.

Boyd stresses that his department has no intention of dictating solutions. For the next few years, he says, "We'll be trying to find out what kind of a system of transportation people want."

But much of the hope for relieving urban congestion has come to rest with alternatives to the motorcar. Of those that are known, the most discussed is rail rapid transit: subway, elevated or ground-level.

Department of Transportation

officials maintain that rail transit has been oversold, however. They point out that only about 15 of the nation's largest cities have the population density to make such a fixed-route system feasible. And six already have it in some form. They are New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland and Newark, N.J.

But officials of HUD, which administers a new program of aid for urban mass transit, argue that more and better rail systems will go far to alleviate congestion where it is worst—in the largest cities.

Charles M. Haar, HUD's assistant secretary for metropolitan development, contends that "rail systems have been under-sold, if anything. The 14 or 15 cities we're talking about make the population of the country."

Whatever the solutions, federal officials believe development of new and better means of transportation is critical to revival of the decaying cities. And they are deeply aware that they are in a race with the continuing flood of people to urban areas.

Most promising of the here-and-now idea is making better use of the ordinary bus. Researchers are trying to find ways of making the bus quieter, smoother, more attractive and more comfortable.

The biggest problem, officials say, is getting people to leave their cars for a bus.

In the one controlled new bus experiment to date, commuters in Peoria, Ill., took well to the idea. But they had to be lured aboard the buses with such super-service as front-door pickup, hot coffee served by attractive hostesses, monthly passes ($6 to $10) home billing, guaranteed seating, paid taxicab service in case of a bus breakdown.

Boyd, who says there is a "slow as molasses approach to new forms of (urban) transportation," has been urging cities to set aside one lane on freeways for exclusive use of buses. Explaining the idea, yet to be tried by any city, Boyd says: "Suppose you could buy the morning paper and get a cup of coffee on a bus that passed directly to a reserved lane on a freeway and nonstop to the city? Would you leave the car at home?"

"We don't know the answer," he confesses.

Though it sounds simple, the plan becomes complex because of the need to sell commuters in advance on the idea. Unless quite a few buses are using the reserved lane from the start, people jammed in cars bumper to bumper in the other lanes simply won't stand for it.

But the potential for traffic relief is tremendous. Buses traveling at 35 to 40 miles per hour could carry 25,000-30,000 people an hour in one lane, compared to 3,000 people in cars in the same lane.

To develop new systems and revitalize old ones, HUD has spent a third of a billion dollars in the last three years.

So far, the federal effort has failed to halt the decline in urban transit passengers, from 19 billion in 1945 to less than 7 billion in 1966, even though the urban population has been soaring.

And HUD officials say it's going to take a lot more money—most of it local but more federal, too—to reverse the trend.

While HUD-supported research has produced no single, spectacular solution, officials say a number of projects show promise.

These include:

—A gasoline-and electric-powered minicar, developed by General Motors and the University of Pennsylvania, half the length of the average car. It would seat three, and have a top speed of 60 miles per hour, cut down needed parking space by three to four times and give off only one-tenth the air pollution.

—Dual-mode automobiles. The small, battery-powered vehicles would travel both on regular streets and on rail guideways to and from downtown. Equipped with steel flange wheels in addition to rubber tires, the cars would draw electric power from the guideways and travel in trains as close as one foot and at speeds around 40 m.p.h. The concept could be demonstrated in a few years.

—Westinghouse's Skybus project near Pittsburgh. The computer-controlled, minitrain-like affair with rubber wheels runs on an elevated concrete guideway. Federal officials say the system may prove useful for medium-density cities which cannot support costly rail transit systems.

For the throbbing center of the problem—downtown—federal officials have their eyes on such systems as conveyor belts, minitrains and minibuses, monorails, overhead sidewalks and even moving sidewalks.

62,000 Drug Addicts in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bureau of Narcotics says the nation's number of known drug addicts climbed last year to 62,045—half of them white, half nonwhite.

Henry L. Giordana, commissioner of narcotics, presented the statistics at a recent hearing of a House Appropriations subcommittee. His report was made public today.

The increasing use of marijuana, Giordana said, particularly by those under 25, is almost certain to lead to stronger, more dangerous drugs.

Nearly half of the total known addicts, he reported, lived in New York City.

Ceylon is largely dependent on tea, rubber and coconut products. Its population is 11 million.

62,000 Drug Addicts in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bureau of Narcotics says the nation's number of known drug addicts climbed last year to 62,045—half of them white, half nonwhite.

Henry L. Giordana, commissioner of narcotics, presented the statistics at a recent hearing of a House Appropriations subcommittee. His report was made public today.

The increasing use of marijuana, Giordana said, particularly by those under 25, is almost certain to lead to stronger, more dangerous drugs.

Nearly half of the total known addicts, he reported, lived in New York City.

Father Raymond Lavelle Speaks to AAUW Club

Officers were elected during the recent meeting of Circleville Branch of American Assn. of University Women Mrs. Carl Heffelfinger, president, conducted the business session.

Mrs. Rosemary Mader and Mrs. Daisy Husky were welcomed as guests.

The slate of officers for the 1968-1970 term was unanimously accepted as follows: Mrs. Lois Ann Rustin, vice president of program development; Mrs. Jeanette Chilcote, vice president of membership, and Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, treasurer.

Mrs. Sue Edwards, educational area representative, announced a future meeting of all members interested in the educational short term study group to discuss the material received from the state and association educational chairmen. Those interested in the meeting are asked to contact Mrs. Edwards.

Following the meeting a talk was given by The Rev. Raymond E. Lavelle, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lancaster. Using the topic "Are You Tuned Into Today's Religion?" Rev. Lavelle related his belief that conflict in the church is caused by people within the church, not by outside forces. This conflict will eventually result in a stronger more effective church. The new church stresses the love and mercy of God rather than a fear of God or punishment by God.

Refreshments and discussion followed. Hostess committee for the evening consisted of Mrs. Richard Gerhardt, chairman; Mrs. Hewitt Harmount, Mrs. Dora Moss, Mrs. William Riekey and Mrs. Ralph Starkey.

Pickaway Plains Chapter DAR Holds March Session

The March meeting of Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of The American Revolution was held in the home of Mrs. William Radcliff, 630 Ridgewood Drive. The session began with fellowship and a dessert course served by the hostesses.

Mrs. Judd H. Dresbach, regent, was assisted by Mrs. Daniel Eitel in the ritualistic opening. Mrs. Paul Johnson led in recognition of the flag. The American Creed was repeated in unison.

Mrs. Ben Nothstine read the March message from Mrs. William Henry Sullivan Jr., president general. The message mainly concerned her recent visit to the combat area of Vietnam during which she spoke with many fighting men and presented many DAR Americanism medals to the patriots of 1968. Mrs. Sullivan concluded with the suggestion that generous home support be advanced to nurture law and order to the streets of the nation and to show tangible appreciation to returning veterans.

"National Defense" was presented by Mrs. Joseph Peters. This concerned recognition of the many facets of freedom and recommended being more than just concerned. This chairman stated that truly good citizens should desire freedom to the extent of taking a venture in really doing something about the situation.

Dawn Bidwell, a seventh grade student at Jackson School, was recognized as a state winner in the American History Month Essay Contest.

The regent, assisted by the registrar, Mrs. R. R. Bales, officially welcomed Mrs. Roy Fraunfelter as a member of The National Society and of Pickaway Plains Chapter.

During this conference a blue ribbon was presented Pickaway Plains Chapter for the program book.

A heritage program, "Colonel Herb Cooking" was presented by Mrs. Radcliff. After reviewing how herbs help speak of the past by legend and by practice, the speaker explained the procedures for planting and growing herbs and recipes and traditions for using them. Mrs. Radcliff had a large table laden with illustrations. She presented each one present with a small loaf of herb bread and a book on "Herbs, Facts and Fancies" which she had made.

Hostesses for the session were Mrs. Stanley Bowers, chairman Mrs. Robert Knoke, Mrs. Fred Brown, Miss Martha Pile, Mrs. Joseph Burns, Miss Marvina Holderman, Mrs. Dorothy Gerhardt, Mr. Forrest Brown, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. Henry Mader, Mrs. Christine Schwarz and Mrs. Robert Wallace.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Loneliness — Curable Disease

DEAR ABBY: My husband is dead, and I am all alone in the world. Loneliness is like a cancer, only it's worse. It doesn't kill you, it just gnaws at the mind until concentration and constructive thinking are permanently crippled.

When my husband was living, we visited lonely people and often took them for rides, to the movies, and out for a meal. But now that I am alone, no one visits me. And no one ever offers to take me anywhere. Married people don't care. They have each other. Sundays are torture. They're endless.

I am treated worse than a criminal. Perhaps if I were a criminal, some saintly person from a church group would call on me and try to save my "soul."

I attend church, but the church has paid no attention to me in my loneliness. I am not rich, neither am I poor. I am not beautiful, nor am I ugly. I'm too old to work steady at a job, and I'm too young to die.

I know there is no solution to my loneliness, but perhaps it will help to write it down. Thank you.

LONELY IN ATLANTA
DEAR LONELY: Your letter reveals an intelligent, sensitive woman, plagued by self-pity and preoccupied with her "loneliness." If you are able to walk talk, hear and see, and are not dependent upon charity, you are better off than some.

A sure cure for the blues is to find someone less fortunate than yourself, and do something for that person. (You won't have to look far.) There are lonely people to visit, blind folks to read to and write for. The only way to "get" is by giving. Try it, and if you are still inclined to agonize over your solitude, the pain could be self-inflicted.

DEAR ABBY: There is a handsome new teller at the bank where I deposit the company checks, and he has me so flustered I hardly know what I'm doing.

This morning after I made the deposit, he touched my hand when he gave me my receipt, and I nearly fainted. He has the most beautiful smile, Abby, and he seems to light up when he sees me coming. One of the girls who works at the bank said he asked her if I was engaged or going with somebody, so he must be interested in me. How can I let him know I would like to know him better without being too forward?

DEPOSITOR
DEAR DEPOSITOR: Just keep making those deposits, and watch the interest grow.

DEAR ABBY: It was with a great deal of interest that I read the letter in your column from the teen-aged girl who bemoaned the age-old tradition that gives the male the privilege of asking the girl for a date instead of vice versa.

As a high school teacher for the last 19 years I have had an opportunity to observe the situation from close range. I have taken polls and discovered that approximately 10 per cent of my girl students know that it is the GIRL'S place to speak to the boy first. Boys tell me that 99 out of 100 girls will walk past them in the halls without so much as a "hi". No boy would consider the girl "forward" were she to speak first. The girl who is friendly enough to say "hi" first is usually the one who comes to mind when he wants a date for that special occasion.

Local NFO Gives 21 Hogs to Poor

Pickaway County NFO members Tuesday contributed 21 butcher hogs to the "Hogs for the Poor" project.

These hogs will be slaughtered and the meat will be distributed to the poor of Cleveland. This NFO project is an attempt to raise the price of hogs and other livestock to cover the farmers' cost of production plus a reasonable return for labor and investment.

Latest report concerning the meat-holding action is that the NFO goal of 23 cents a pound for hogs and 32 cents a pound for choice steers will become a reality as soon as contracts can be signed with a few more medium-sized packers, according to NFO officials.

MARKED FOR VIETNAM—The battleship New Jersey steams down the Delaware River from the Philadelphia Ship Yards for Atlantic sea trials. An extensive renovation is making the demobilized dreadnaught ready for Vietnam duty.

Mail Inspection Turns Up Many Guns, Grenades

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Customs Bureau found live grenades, submachine guns, marijuana and switchblade knives in a test opening of all foreign mail packages at just two ports on one day.

"Absolutely amazing," said Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., after Commissioner Lester D. Johnson told a House Appropriations subcommittee about the tests at San Francisco and New York. He didn't say when the tests were made.

Practically all of the military weapons came from the Vietnam area, Johnson said—some possibly as souvenirs. He said military authorities are moving to crack down on the situation.

His testimony was made public today.

"The thing that concerns me most about this situation is that explosives and firearms that are being found," Johnson said. "This is something relatively new."

Elephants Lost, But Tigers OK

HEYWORTH, Ill. (AP) — A woman driving a truckload of tigers caused a small commotion in this town Tuesday when she reported her husband was lost with a truckful of elephants.

With visions of stray pachyderms plodding the roads, the county sheriff's department alerted all its units to start a search.

The husband with his load of three elephants found his way and showed up shortly. The couple, members of the Shrine Circus, continued on their way with the wife navigating this time.

LION LEADERS — Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Spittler (left) Cedarville, and Mr. and Mrs. Garold Crites, Circleville, were among the Lions attending Circleville's annual Governor's night program. Spittler is the district governor of 13-J and Crites is president of the local club.

Circleville Lions Hold Annual Governor's Night Supper

The Circleville Lions Club held its annual Governor's Night meeting at the Wardell Party Home Tuesday.

Harold J. Spittler, district governor of 13-J inducted Kenneth Fosnaugh and Carl Steele into the club. He stressed to them that "Lionism is sharing what we are as well as what we have," and that they were joining the worlds largest service organization with 851,988 members in 21,912 clubs in 141 countries and geographical areas.

Guests for the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Spittler, of Cedarville; Mrs. Kenneth Fosnaugh; Mrs. Carl Steele; Mr. and Mrs. Denver Greenlee of Circleville and the new district governor elect of 13-J, Harold Wright and his wife from New Holland. The Lions Auxiliary members are also guests at the special meeting.

Spittler was the speaker for the evening. His theme for his talk was "For Heaven's sake, what are you doing now; what are you doing for your community, your country and the world?"

Spittler pointed out that Lionism has the force to bring countries closer together, to spread love and affection among men and to destroy wrong impressions and untrue images.

He told the members of the Circleville Club and their guests that it is great to be a Lion.

'Bad Food' Protested At College

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—About 400 University of Toledo students went on a food-flinging rampage Tuesday, protesting the quality of food served in Carter Hall, a men's dormitory.

After getting their evening meal, the students, all men, dumped it on the floor or threw it into the air. No dishes or furniture were broken.

The demonstration lasted about 30 minutes.

About a month ago, 55 students reportedly were affected by a mysterious illness which hit the campus. Some officials blamed it on food poisoning, others said it was caused by a virus.

A campus committee met Monday night with Oden Foods, the firm which caters food for the dormitories. Oden officials promised the food would be improved, but a student spokesman said Tuesday the students still were not satisfied.

Nixon Says New Leadership Needed To Bring Peace

CINCINNATI (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, said Tuesday new U.S. leadership is needed to bring about world peace.

In a speech here, he called for a "coalition of Americans" to help solve this country's problems and attain world peace. He offered a four-pronged plan to help the threat of a world war.

Predicting a GOP victory in November, the former vice president said, "The new Republican administration will lead 'and mentioned Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes as a prospect for either first or second place on the GOP ticket."

He spoke here at both a news conference and meeting

Sergeantsville Is in the Dark

SERGEANTSVILLE, N.J. (AP)—Sergeantsville is in the dark because it didn't pay its light bill.

This tiny community's 20 street lights were turned off by workmen of the New Jersey Power and Light Co.

The blackout stems from failure of voters to approve a budget calling for $330 to pay the bill for the lights this year. The budget was defeated in February, 1967.

The only illumination on village streets was from some privately-owned lights and one kerosene lantern which a resident affixed to a stake in front of his home.

of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations.

"Gov. Rhodes is a man of national stature who would be considered as a candidate for president or vice president," Nixon said after a closed session with Rhodes.

Nixon praised Rhodes as one of the "major experts in the country on the issue of jobs." He said Rhodes' ideas for creation of jobs would be embraced in the GOP national platform.

Nixon denied he met with Rhodes to pursue Ohio's 58-member delegation, of which Rhodes' is the favorite son, to the GOP National Convention.

Elaborating on his four-pronged plan, Nixon said the threat to peace is great because of Communist Chinese nuclear capability.

In his speech, Nixon offered this four-part program: Restore the military strength against those who threaten the peace.

De-Fuse the crisis in the Middle East.

Put together a great alliance in Europe.

Work with those helping the United States in Asia.

Consumer Tests by Government a Maze

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee trying to help consumers in the marketplace has lifted the veil on some of the product information gathered by the government at taxpayer expense.

If you want to follow government requirements the next time you're shopping for certain items you should, for example: —Insist on a power lawn mower that will stay upright on a 30-degree slope.

—Make sure the glass portion of a vacuum coffee-maker can be heated to 300 degrees, then plunged into 32-degree ice water without cracking.

—Get a ball point pen cartridge that contains enough ink to write a line 5,000 feet long. —Measure the handle of your toothbrush to see that it is at least six inches long.

—Check to see if your wax emulsion floor finish for use on light colored floors is one of eight qualified brands.

—Purchase the one qualified brand of transistor battery if you require any of seven particular sizes.

The Committee on Government Operations' special inquiry on consumer representation in the federal government published a sampling of federal specifications and qualified products lists as a followup to hearings on whether the government should make product information available to the public.

The inquiry chairman, Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., contends the public could effectively use some of the testing information the government collects on 1,000 consumer-type products.

The General Services Administration alone spends about $750,000 annually on testing such products, testified Heinz A. Abersfeller, commissioner of the Federal Supply Service.

He cautioned about problems he said are involved in translating scientific terminology into material laymen can understand.

"I am supposed to have the reservoir of all this knowledge and I haven't been able to find use for it yet as a consumer either, because I can't translate this information into anything meaningful," he testified.

The specifications give characteristics or performance required of a product before the government will buy it. Qualified products lists give brand names of products which have passed government tests and are cleared for government purchase.

Brand names not on a particular list may not have applied for a test because they have no interest in selling to the government. Or, they may have flunked a test.

Rep. John W. Wyder, R-N.Y., expressed concern during the hearings that if qualified products lists were published those

NEW YORK (AP) — Petula Clark, an English singer, may have been launched with "Downtown," her first big hit record in America, but in the course of a few years she has moved up town fast.

Her first television special on NBC Tuesday night was a sleek, bright production, an hour that wasted little time on inane between-numbers chatter and concentrated on music, especially songs that ranged in mood from gay to pensive. The show was filled with visual excitement—swirls of color, imaginative sets and costumes.

Miss Clark, in a series of eye-catching dresses from mini length to ballgown, moved with easy grace and informality through it all. She is an attractive performer.

Harry Belafonte contributed a number of songs in his usual dramatic, impeccable style. He appeared, incidentally, for the first time it seems, in a turtle-neck sweater instead of his trademark, an open-throated shirt.

An incident during the taping of the show, when Miss Clark touched Belafonte's arm, had caused a controversy between Belafonte and an employee of the sponsor who wanted the scene edited out. The gesture was so casual on TV that it would have gone unnoticed by most viewers except for the controversy.

It was, generally, a happy, tuneful and very pleasant hour.

Later CBS had the somewhat dubious distinction of being first to start reporting on the Wisconsin presidential preference vote. It was too early since when the program started only 6 per cent of the votes were counted.

The primary had lost some of its excitement and gained in confusion after the withdrawal of Lyndon B. Johnson Sunday from the 1968 presidential race. Walter Cronkite did his best with a mass of statistics, projections and interpretation. The outcome was never in doubt. It had been a foregone conclusion that Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy and Republican Richard M. Nixon would win the greatest number of votes. The job was to analyze the size of the totals of the winners and the also-rans.

Analyst Eric Sevareid made the most frank observation of the half hour: "I'm not sure what is coming out of this (vote) except a television program."

There was an awkward, pause-filled interview with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy who had little to say. There was a recorded session with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey who man-aged with good humor if without his usual grace, to avoid answering direct questions about his future plans.

When CBS planned the prime-time program the Wisconsin primary loomed as a more important test of strength than it turned out to be.

ABC and NBC, coming along 90 minutes later when almost half the votes were counted, handled things in just about the same fashion.

Recommended tonight: "Music Hall," NBC, 9-10 EST, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme in a salute to the old theater in which their Broadway musical is now playing.

U.S. Grants Concessions To Create 'Paper Gold'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States granted some sweetening concessions to continental Europe in winning agreement this past weekend on a plan to create new international money.

The big sweetener is a veto over some basic operations of the International Monetary Fund by the six Common Market countries.

This was revealed by U.S. officials who said the new plan for paper gold adopted at Stockholm this past weekend can work without French participation but it will be a year at the earliest, and undoubtedly longer, before any paper gold will change hands.

"They can't wreck it," one official said of French reluctance to go along with the plan approved by the other nine richest nations of the non-Communist world—including France's five common market partners.

Congress will be asked to approve this year the new basic reform in the IMF—and government officials say they are optimistic about its chances in both the House and the Senate.

The IMF reforms consist of changes in voting requirements on three specific issues to give a veto to the Common Market—France, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The Common Market members have 16 per cent of the weighted votes which are based on the amount of money each country has contributed to the IMF.

The United States already has a veto over the affected operations and would retain it.

8 Cincy Schools Hit By Blazes

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fires struck several Cincinnati public schools Tuesday for the second straight day and one of the blazes, accompanied by an explosion, caused $2,000 damage.

The blast and fire blew apart plumbing and discolored walls in a girls' restroom at Bloom Junior High School, one of five schools hit by fires Tuesday.

Blazes that started in garbage cans were reported at Lyon Junior High, Aiken High and Hyde Park Elementary. A cardboard box, filled with what apparently was burning coals, was found in a third floor coat room at Samuel Ach Junior High.

Fire caused $150 damage to a student teacher's car parked in a lot at Lyon Junior High. Fire officials said the blaze was apparently ignited by a match tossed into the auto.

Fires also did minor damage to Woodward High, Cutter Junior High and Hughes High and classes were interrupted at Hughes for a short time.

All the fires are being investigated by the arson squad.

Antioch Group Sets Small, Inner College

Hope To Reach Closer Touch With Society

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — A few Antioch College students are looking in their own back yard now in their "search for purpose" that once carried many of them to far corners of the earth on work-study programs.

Starting this week, some 30 students and three faculty members launched an "inner college" here. In two off-campus buildings, they are setting up faculty offices, classrooms and residential quarters to try to recreate the atmosphere of the "old" Antioch — small, serious and perhaps even a bit more square by today's standards.

The students will take field courses on the main campus but work out ways to meet general education requirements through the inner college. The group ranges from freshmen to seniors, from literature to physics majors.

They want to learn, they want close faculty-student relations, and they want an education that teaches them how to deal with problems facing society.

There will be no set curriculum at the inner college. Instead, faculty and students will try to find out what pieces of knowledge are required to help solve problems in which they are interested.

Committees Are Planned

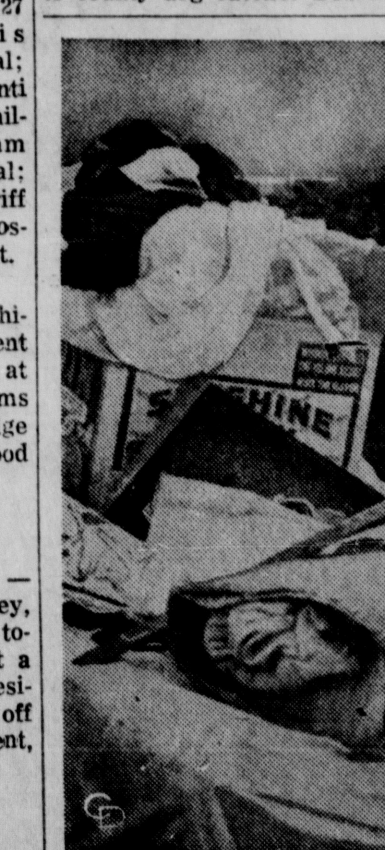

A community with pure water, pleasant sites for homes, orderly and well planned industrial sites, open spaces for recreation and no fear of spring flooding does not just happen — it is planned.

According to Don Archer, Pickaway County Soil Conservationist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service, the soil is the basic building block in the orderly development of any community. The proper use of soils for urban development is very similar to the proper use of soil in agriculture. A soil might have very serious limitation for one urban use but may be perfectly suited for another, Archer says.

Archer stated that the Soil Conservation Service, through local Soil and Water Conservation Districts has been assisting landowners, individually and in groups, with their soil and water management problems for the past 25 years. He emphasized that planners, developers and similar individuals and groups may receive this type of assistance by contacting their local Soil and Water Conservation District Office at 1440 North Court Street, Circleville, Ohio.

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's press, closely censored and guided by the Saigon government, is showing up these days with more articles critical of America and Americans.

Some anti-American sentiment long has been expressed here. With the escalation of the war and the introduction of more than half a million American military personnel, it is probably not surprising that this should increase. But such expressions now are being brought more into the public record.

Antioch Group Sets Small, Inner College

Hope To Reach Closer Touch With Society

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — A few Antioch College students are looking in their own back yard now in their "search for purpose" that once carried many of them to far corners of the earth on work-study programs.

Starting this week, some 30 students and three faculty members launched an "inner college" here. In two off-campus buildings, they are setting up faculty offices, classrooms and residential quarters to try to recreate the atmosphere of the "old" Antioch — small, serious and perhaps even a bit more square by today's standards.

The students will take field courses on the main campus but work out ways to meet general education requirements through the inner college. The group ranges from freshmen to seniors, from literature to physics majors.

They want to learn, they want close faculty-student relations, and they want an education that teaches them how to deal with problems facing society.

There will be no set curriculum at the inner college. Instead, faculty and students will try to find out what pieces of knowledge are required to help solve problems in which they are interested.

Committees Are Planned

A community with pure water, pleasant sites for homes, orderly and well planned industrial sites, open spaces for recreation and no fear of spring flooding does not just happen — it is planned.

According to Don Archer, Pickaway County Soil Conservation Service, the soil is the basic building block in the orderly development of any community. The proper use of soils for urban development is very similar to the proper use of soil in agriculture. A soil might have very serious limitation for one urban use but may be perfectly suited for another, Archer says.

Archer stated that the Soil Conservation Service, through local Soil and Water Conservation Districts has been assisting landowners, individually and in groups, with their soil and water management problems for the past 25 years. He emphasized that planners, developers and similar individuals and groups may receive this type of assistance by contacting their local Soil and Water Conservation District Office at 1440 North Court Street, Circleville, Ohio.

South Viet Press More Anti-American

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's press, closely censored and guided by the Saigon government, is showing up these days with more articles critical of America and Americans.

Some anti-American sentiment long has been expressed here. With the escalation of the war and the introduction of more than half a million American military personnel, it is probably not surprising that this should increase. But such expressions now are being brought more into the public record.

SAIGON Daily News, one of the country's two English-language newspapers. Both papers are widely read by the American community here.

The column, called "Slices of Life" is written under the pen name Van Minh. He cites a "series of virulent articles" in the Vietnamese-language newspaper Cong Chung. The paper has asserted that the U.S. commitment in South Vietnam is intended to uphold the "interests and prestige of the United States rather than those of the people of Vietnam," Van Minh wrote. He pointed out that the paper's views appeared in a front-page editorial under an eight-column banner and were "lightly censored."

Van Minh himself now is writing a series of columns under the general heading "U.S. Mistakes in Vietnam." The third one appeared Sunday. It was free of any of the white spaces that mark the hand of the government censor. The first two contained some deletions.

Paintings Arrive At HemisFair '68

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Fourteen Spanish art masterpieces, estimated to be worth more than $200 million, arrived safely at HemisFair '68 Tuesday where they will go on display when the exposition opens on Saturday.

The paintings, thought to be the most valuable art collection ever shown in Texas, include works of El Greco, Velazquez, Goya, Zurbaran and Murillo.

Lloyd's of London has insured the paintings for $10 million, but Spanish officials said they would bring much more if offered for sale.

Van Minh wrote that "the general feeling among most Americans here is that most Vietnamese are corrupt, undisciplined or irresponsible." He said he agreed that "this society, which includes myself as well, is rotten beyond imagination," but added:

"What I wonder, however, is that whether the Vietnamese hold the monopoly of this rottenness, and whether our American 'advisers' are immune from such undesirable moral deficiencies."

Mansfield Interscholastic Relays Slated April 12-13

By HAL PARIS Associated Press Sports Writer
MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Scholastic runners and jumpers get their first real competitive tests of the 1968 spring season April 12-13 in the 37th annual Mansfield Interscholastic Relays.

Since the event was moved to Malabar four years ago, relay records have tumbled under the onslaught of the schoolboy stars. Eight fell in 1964, nine in 1965, six in 1966 and four more last year despite gusty winds that wiped out would-be records in both hurdles and the 100.

Famed Jesse Owens, who first hit the limelight while at Cleveland East Tech, still claims the oldest marks. He sped the 220 in 21.2 seconds in 1933 and zoomed the century in 9.6 seconds the same year. Eddie Hearne of Toronto equalled Owens' time in the 100 in 1966 but sports writers who witnessed the performance contend stiff winds should have disallowed the record-equalizer.

The next oldest mark is in the 220-yard low hurdles when another East Tech speedster, Harlan Dillard, romped the distance in 24.5 in 1940.

This year's event again will draw heavily from Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Michigan, Indiana and Canada, as well as Ohio.

The Indianapolis school became the first outsider to score here since Pontiac, Mich., won out in 1958.

Competition in the two mile run and the four mile relay starts the action on Friday, April 12 with 18 events on Saturday's card.

Always tough Cleveland Glenview won back-to-back crowns in 1965 and 1966 before Indianapolis came through last year.

Braves, Mustangs Battle to 7-7 Tie in SVC Tilt

Logan Elm and Westfall battled to a 7-7 deadlock in a Scio Valley Conference baseball game played on the Braves' diamond Tuesday.

The game was called at the end of seven innings because of darkness.

Westfall took a 4-0 lead in the second inning, added runs in each of the last three innings. Logan Elm's first run was in the fourth frame. The Braves had a four run fifth inning and notched two in the sixth.

Gene Carfrey started on the mound for Westfall and went all the way, allowing seven hits, walking six and fanning 15.

Westfall took a 4-0 lead in the second inning, added runs in each of the last three innings. Logan Elm's first run was in the fourth frame. The Braves had a four run fifth inning and notched two in the sixth.

Gene Carfrey started on the mound for Westfall and went all the way, allowing seven hits, walking six and fanning 15.

DANNY Fausnaugh went the route for the Braves, giving up six hits, walking three and whiffing 11.

Carfrey paced the Mustangs at the plate, cracking two singles and driving in three runs in two official trips.

For Logan Elm, Larry Stant banged a double and a single in four trips, driving in three runs. Jim Orders had a pair of singles in three trips to the plate and drove in three runs.

Blair scored on Rick Maurer's squeeze bunt. Gene Carfrey singled in Hamman and Cornwell and Maurer scored on an error before the inning was over.

WESTFALL tallied in the top of the fifth when Greg Bigam led off with a single, stole second and third and then scored on an error.

In the bottom of the fifth, Fausnaugh walked and advanced to third on Mike Helwag's double. Jim Orders singled, scoring both Fausnaugh and Helwag. Dave Reichelderfer singled. Both he and Orders advanced on a fielders choice and then Stant unleashed a single to score them both.

The Braves' final two runs came in the bottom of the sixth. Fausnaugh walked, stole second and scored on Orders' single. Orders then went to second on an error and scored on another miscue, giving the Braves a 7-6 lead going into the last inning.

In the top of the seventh, Bigam was safe on an error and advanced to second. John Furniss singled him home with the tying run. The Braves were set down in order in the bottom of the inning and the game was called by the umpires.

The game will go on the league record as a tie, according to Vick Pontius, Logan Elm coach.

Dark Firms Tribe Roster

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Alvin Dark got things pretty well squared away Tuesday for next week's opener in Chicago by cutting six players and naming his "regular" outfield.

In fact, the Cleveland Indians' roster is now 23, two under the limit for the season. Two more players who will remain for the year likely will be relief pitchers.

Dark assigned three pitchers to Portland of the Pacific Coast League — Orlando Pena, Bob Allen and Steve Bailey. Outfielder Richie Scheinblum also went to Portland.

Infielder Pedro Gonzalez was optioned to Tulsa of the PCL and pitcher Tom Kelley to Waterbury, Conn., of the Eastern League.

Regarding the regular players, Dark said his outfield will be Jose Cardenal in center, Tommy Harper in left and Vic Davalillo in right.

"There'll be certain times I'll change because of certain pitchers," Dark said after the Tribe dropped a 6-1 decision to the San Francisco Giants in a Cactus League game.

The Indians' loss Tuesday was their sixth straight in exhibition and reduced their spring training record to 9-15.

Mike McCormick blanked the Tribe for the first six innings and the Giants had a 5-0 lead by the seventh inning, all off Luis Tiant.

Warriors Top Hawks; Eye Playoffs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Underdog San Francisco has become the fourth member of the National Basketball Association playoff cast with a 111-106 victory over the St. Louis Hawks.

"It's the greatest upset in NBA history," said a happy Bill Sharman Tuesday night after his Warriors disposed of the Hawks, four games to two, with fine outside shooting in every game of the Western Division semifinals.

"We truly didn't expect to be here," said Clyde Lee, who tipped in the Warriors' final basket after the Hawks had pulled to within 109-106.

The Warriors, plagued by injuries—the biggest to star Nate Thurmond—ended in third place in the regular season behind the Hawks and second-place Los Angeles.

Boston and Philadelphia open their fight for the Eastern Division crown Friday night in Philadelphia.

John Benington is the 12th head coach in the 70-year history of basketball at Michigan State University.

UCLA's basketball team averaged 103.4 points a game in the Bruins first 10 games this season.

Greensboro Pro-Am Set For Today

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — They played for practice, fun and a little cash today, but the bell rings Thursday and the scramble for $137,500 in the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament will be on in earnest.

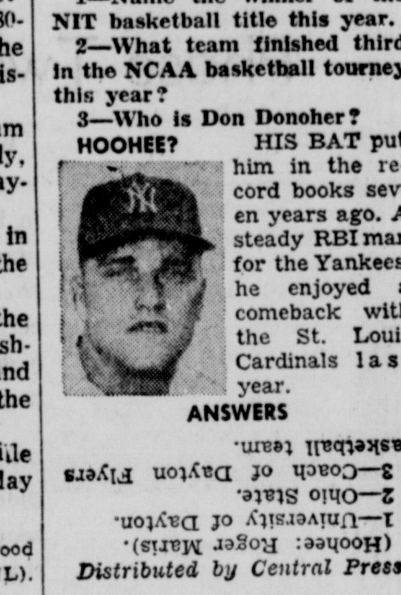

A pro-amateur today served as a final tightener for the pros seeking top money of $27,500 in the 72-hole tournament which ends Sunday over the par 71 Sedgfield Country Club course measuring 7,034 yards.

Fifty pros, each teamed with three amateurs, made up today's field. About 140 will play in the tourney proper.

Five thousand dollars made up the pros' share of the pro-am pot, with $2,500 in merchandise awards for amateurs.

The pairing attracting the most attention today had Arnold Palmer teamed with singer-actor Pat Boone; John T. Connor, former secretary of commerce; and Stanley Frank GGO honorary chairman.

Other pros in today's field included Billy Casper, Sam Snead, Julius Boros, Gary Player, Johnny Pott, Doug Sanders, Frank Beard and George Archer, GGO winner last year.

Joe Louis Says Elimination Tourney Silly

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, said Tuesday that the elimination tournament to determine a successor to dethroned champion Cassius Clay "is ridiculous."

The 53-year-old Brown Bomber, who rose from the slums of Detroit to win the heavyweight title, held his first news conference since undergoing surgery last Thursday. His gall bladder, containing five gall stones, and his appendix were removed.

Looking a bit weary but fit, Louis spoke from a wheelchair at the new $3 million Kirwood Hospital on Detroit's northwest side.

"As far as I'm concerned, Clay is still champion, at least until he goes to jail or retires," he said. "I think he made an awful mistake by not going into the Army. He threw away a brilliant career."

Long Shots Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Jockey Ron Turcotte brought home consecutive long shots at Aqueduct race track Tuesday. He scored with Weary Traveler $27.80 in the third race and Mid-Billingsgate $50.80 in the fourth.

Hand Sees Cards 1st, Cincy 2nd

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — St. Louis has the pitching, power and balance to win the National League pennant again but it won't be any 10 1/2-game romp this time.

If there is any complacency in the camp of the defending world champions it didn't show in Florida where Orlando Cepeda and Lou Brock were bombing the fences. Manager Red Schoendienst's toughest problem was cutting his pitching staff.

Cincinnati looks tough if it can escape the injuries that ruined them last season. San Francisco should be close to the big money on an expected super year by Juan Marichal. Pittsburgh, the team that had everything but

Leo Durocher's Chicago Cubs rate as contenders after making believers of the cynics last summer. Both the Los Angeles Dodgers and Atlanta Braves can make trouble if they play up to their potential. Philadelphia has to sweat it out with Richie Allen's damaged right hand. Houston appears to have enough to keep the New York Mets in last place.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1. St. Louis
2. Cincinnati
3. Pittsburgh
5. Chicago
6. Los Angeles
7. Atlanta
8. Philadelphia

9. Houston
10. New York

The Cards are up to here in solid pitching with Bob Gibson showing the way to a staff that includes Nelson Briles, Steve Carlton, and the others who did the job last season.

John Edwards will give Tim McCarver a chance to take a rest and Dick Schofield provides shortstop insurance behind Dal Maxvill.

A batting order that includes Brock, Cepeda, McCarver, Curt Flood, Mike Shannon, Roger Maris and Julian Javier packs enough punch to carry an ordinary staff and the Cards' staff is not ordinary.

Injuries, of course, can ruin any club. Any serious problems with Cepeda's knee or Flood's arm could bring them back to the pack.

The Reds might have made a good run at last season if the injuries hadn't chopped down the club in midseason. Dave Bristol has a group of versatile players who think they can win. A staff that includes Jim Maloney, Mel Nolan, Milt Pappas and Gary Nolan (assuming he is sound) can make it close.

Much depends on a Marichal comeback and a return to form

by Willie Mays if the Giants are to win Mike McCormick must back up his fine year with another good season and the Hal Lanier-Ron Hunt combo must click in the middle of the infield. The Giants do have that home run power and good pitching.

The Pirates lead the league in hitting every year but the pitching lets them down. The addition of Bunning makes them a formidable factor. Any line-up that includes Roberto Clemente has to be a threat.

The Cubs went far with a kid pitching staff last season and count on the same group, plus a full season from Ken Holtzman, to take them all the way. Ron Santo, Ernie Banks and Billy Williams must carry the big load and Adolfo Phillips must continue to improve.

Zoilo Versalles, Tom Haller and Mudcat Grant are the Dodgers' hopes to pull off operation comeback. The pitching is solid with the addition of rookie Atlanta Foster but they still lack hitting. Atlanta has the power of Hank Aaron and Joe Torre but the pitching is questionable.

While the Phils wait on Allen's hand and sweat out a shortstop problem, they hardly figure as contenders. Houston's hopes to rest rest on better pitching. The Mets lack punch and need at least another Tom Seaver before they can start to progress under Gil Hodges.

Pappas Leads Reds Over Astros

COCOA, Fla. (AP)—Pitcher Milt Pappas, who turned in his most impressive effort by far of spring training Tuesday, looks as the Cincinnati Reds' top candidate to start the regular season's opening game next Monday.

The veteran righthander, who has now hurled 31 Grapefruit Innings — more than any other Reds' pitcher — struck out three and walked none while at one stretch retiring eight straight batters.

Big righthander Bob Lee followed Pappas in fine style as he fanned four of the six men he faced in the next two innings without being touched for a run or hit.

Bill Kelso finished the game and gave up five hits and two runs.

The Reds managed only seven hits and all came off starter and loser Wade Blasingame in the first five innings. Alex Johnson, who rapped two singles, scored three runs and figured in each of Cincinnati's three scoring innings.

The Baltimore Orioles will be without another of their 1966 pennant heroes when the 1968 baseball season begins Monday and last year's champion Boston Red Sox are not doing much better.

The Red Sox, already without pitching injured ace Jim Lonborg for at least the first month of the season, sent slugging Tony Conigliaro flying to Boston Tuesday to undergo further eye examinations.

"There's no doubt that I have a problem," the 23-year-old outfielder was quoted by teammate Carl Yastrzemski in a story written for the Boston Evening Globe. "I have to admit my eyes are nowhere near perfect."

Conigliaro admitted he has difficulty focusing on pitches in daylight. He suffered blurred vision when he was hit near the left eye by a pitch last August, and missed the rest of the 1967 season and the World Series. He had 20 homers, 67 runs batted in and a .287 batting average at the time.

This spring, he is hitting only .167 and has struck out frequently.

Baltimore's worries are not as acute as the pitching rich Orioles sent Wally Bunker to join Jim Palmer in the minor leagues to work out pitching problems.

Bunker, also 23, won 19 games in 1964 and 10 games and a World Series game in 1966 before tendonitis limited him to a 3-7 record last year.

Palmer, another Series winner who was 15-10 that year, also has been bothered by arm trouble and was sent down earlier this spring, and Stu Miller, the star of the bullpen, was sold Monday.

Other pitchers, like Bo Belinsky, had a good day.

Belinsky got his wish from the Houston Astros and was sold to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League where he hopes to pitch and open a dude ranch.

On the mound, Woody Fryman, Mike McCormick, Earl Wilson, Milt Pappas and Jerry Stephenson sparkled.

Fryman, acquired by Philadelphia from Pittsburgh in the Jim Bunning trade last winter, turned in a three-hitter for seven innings and struck out 11 as the Phillies blanked Minnesota 1-0 on Tony Taylor's sixth-inning homer.

McCormick, who won 22 games, the Cy Young Award and the comeback award in the National League in 1967, stopped Cleveland without a run for six innings in San Francisco's 6-1 triumph over the Indians.

Wilson, another 22-game winner last season, gave up six hits and one run in seven innings, pitching Detroit over the Chicago White Sox 5-1.

Ron Hansen hammered a two-out ninth inning homer to break a tie and hand Washington a 5-4 victory over Boston, despite Stephenson's efforts. Stephenson stopped the Senators on two hits and one unearned run for seven innings before Washington scored four runs in the last two innings against relievers.

Jim Hardin, John O'Donoghue and Pete Richert stopped the New York Yankees on five hits in Baltimore's 2-1 12-inning triumph on Elrod Hendricks' sacrifice fly.

Bobby Tolan stole home with the winning run off Don Shaw in the eighth inning to give St. Louis a 3-2 victory over the New York Mets.

Don Drysdale was touched for four runs in seven innings, but Los Angeles bombed Ken Holtzman and Rich Nye for a 5-4 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

Three hits, two errors and a sacrifice fly got Pittsburgh three runs and a 3-2 victory over Oakland.

Unioto '9' Has Six Lettermen Adena Begins SVC Competition

CHILLICOTHE, O.—Unioto, a perennial threat in the Scioto Valley Conference since Don Neff took over as coach two years ago, has six returning lettermen.

Neff figures he'll have another solid contender this year if he can come up with some reliable pitching. The Unioto mound staff lacks experience.

Lettermen include Denny McAfee, All-SVC choice at third base and the Shermans' most valuable player in 1967; Fred Lovely, Tom Brown, Mike Mays and Gary White and Arlan Dailley.

Neff's teams own a combined 41-5 record at Unioto. He formerly was head basketball and baseball coach at Circleville High School.

Adena, the newest member of the Scioto Valley Conference, has a veteran baseball team according to coach Fred Jones.

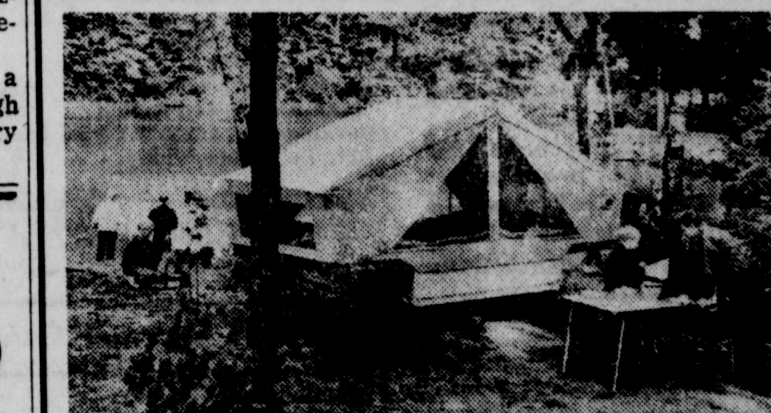

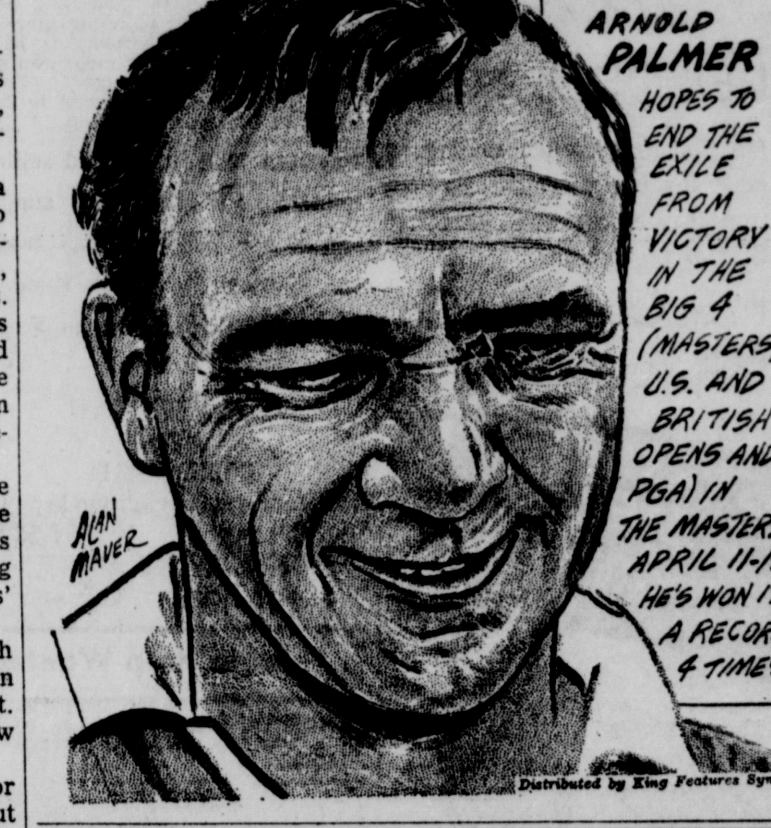

With Melvin Gibson back to lead the pitching staff and three top defensive players plus six batters who hit over .300 last year, Adena promises to be a contender in the SVC.

Adena won 12 games of 16 games last year and was second in the Ross County League with a 9-2 mark.

Adena and Laurelville join Logan Elm, Westfall, Unioto, Paint Valley and Piketon on the league's baseball circuit this year.

Mansfield Interscholastic Relays Slated April 12-13

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Scholastic runners and jumpers get their first real competitive tests of the 1968 spring season April 12-13 in the 37th annual Mansfield Interscholastic Relays.

A bulky field estimated at 2,000 athletes from 200 schools will be out to crack more records on Mansfield Malabar's rubber asphalt track.

Since the event was moved to Malabar four years ago, relay records have tumbled under the onslaught of the schoolboy stars. Eight fell in 1964, nine in 1965, six in 1966 and four more last year despite gusty winds that wiped out would-be records in both hurdles and the 100.

Famed Jesse Owens, who first hit the limelight while at Cleveland East Tech, still claims the oldest marks. He sped the 220 in 21.2 seconds in 1933 and zoomed the century in 9.6 seconds the same year. Eddie Hearne of Toronto equalled Owens' time in the 100 in 1966 but sports writers who witnessed the performance contend stiff winds should have disallowed the record-equalizer.

The next oldest mark is in the 220-yard low hurdles when another East Tech speedster, Harrison Dillard, romped the distance in 24.5 in 1940.

This year's event again will draw heavily from Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Michigan, Indiana and Canada, as well as Ohio.

Indianapolis George Washington topped the relays in 1967 with 24 points, edging Warren Harding which finished with 20.

The Indianapolis school became the first outsider to score here since Pontiac, Mich., won out in 1958.

Competition in the two mile run and the four mile relay starts the action on Friday, April 12 with 18 events on Saturday's card.

Always tough Cleveland Glenview won back-to-back crowns in 1965 and 1966 before Indianapolis came through last year.

Youth Baseball Registration Scheduled

The Circleville Youth Baseball Program has scheduled registration Friday and Saturday for youngsters wishing to participate in the summer program.

Registration will be from 7 to 9 p. m. on Friday and 10 to noon Saturday. Youngsters who have not registered before must bring their birth certificates.

In addition to the Mosquito League for youngsters 8 to 10 the little league for 11, 12 year olds and the pony league and babe ruth leagues for youngsters through 15, a high school league is being formed for boys through 18.

Hand Sees Cards 1st, Cincy 2nd

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — St. Louis has the pitching, power and balance to win the National League pennant again but it won't be any 10½-game romp this time.

If there is any complacency in the camp of the defending world champions it didn't show in Florida where Orlando Cepeda and Lou Brock were bombing the fences. Manager Red Schoendienst's toughest problem was cutting his pitching staff.

Cincinnati looks tough if it can escape the injuries that ruined them last season. San Francisco should be close to the big money on an expected super year by Juan Marichal. Pittsburgh, the team that had everything but finished sixth, has added a pitching ace in Jim Bunning.

Leo Durocher's Chicago Cubs rate as contenders after making believers of the cynics last summer. Both the Los Angeles Dodgers and Atlanta Braves can make trouble if they play up to their potential. Philadelphia has to sweat it out with Richie Allen's damaged right hand. Houston appears to have enough to keep the New York Mets in last place.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1. St. Louis
2. Cincinnati
3. Pittsburgh
4. Pittsburgh
5. Chicago
6. Los Angeles
7. Atlanta
8. Philadelphia

9. Houston

10. New York

The Cards are up to here in solid pitching with Bob Gibson showing the way to a staff that includes Nelson Briles, Steve Carlton, and the others who did the job last season.

John Edwards will give Tim McCarver a chance to take a rest and Dick Schofield provides shortstop insurance behind Dal Maxvill.

A batting order that includes Brock, Cepeda, McCarver, Curt Flood, Mike Shannon, Roger Maris and Julian Javier packs enough punch to carry an ordinary staff and the Cards' staff is not ordinary.

Injuries, of course, can ruin any club. Any serious problems with Cepeda's knee or Flood's arm could bring them back to the pack.

The Reds might have made a good run at it last season if the injuries hadn't chopped down the club in midseason. Dave Bristol has a group of versatile players who think they can win. A staff that includes Jim Maloney, Mel Queen, Milt Pappas and Gary Nolan (assuming he is sound) can make it close.

Much depends on a Marichal comeback and a return to form

by Willie Mays if the Giants are to win Mike McCormick must back up his fine year with another good season and the Hal Lanier-Ron Hunt combo must click in the middle of the infield. The Giants do have that home run power and good pitching.

The Pirates lead the league in hitting every year but the pitching lets them down. The addition of Bunning makes them a formidable factor. Any line-up that includes Roberto Clemente has to be a threat.

The Cubs went far with a kid pitching staff last season and count on the same group, plus a full season from Ken Holtzman, to take them all the way. Ron Santo, Ernie Banks and Billy Williams must carry the big load and Adolfo Phillips must continue to improve.

Zoilo Versalles, Tom Haller and Mudcat Grant are the Dodgers' hopes to pull off operation comeback. The pitching is solid with the addition of rookie Alan Foster but they still lack hitting. Atlanta has the power of Hank Aaron and Joe Torre but the pitching is questionable.

While the Phils wait on Allen's hand and sweat out a shortstop problem, they hardly figure as contenders. Houston's hopes to rise rest on better pitching. The Mets lack punch and need at least another Tom Seaver before they can start to progress under Gil Hodges.

Pappas Leads Reds Over Astros

COCOA, Fla. (AP)—Pitcher Milt Pappas, who turned in his most impressive effort by far of spring training Tuesday, looms as the Cincinnati Reds' top candidate to start the regular season's opening game next Monday.

Pappas threw blanks at Houston, yielding only one hit in five innings and picking up the victory, as the Reds' downed the Astros 4-2.

The veteran righthander, who has now hurled 31 Grapefruit innings — more than any other Reds' pitcher — struck out three and walked none while at one stretch retiring eight straight batters.

Big righthander Bob Lee followed Pappas in fine style as he fanned four of the six men he faced in the next two innings without being touched for a run or hit.

Braves, Mustangs Battle to 7-7 Tie in SVC Tilt

Logan Elm and Westfall battled to a 7-7 deadlock in a Scioto Valley Conference baseball game played on the Braves' diamond Tuesday.

The game was called at the end of seven innings because of darkness.

Westfall took a 4-0 lead in the second inning, added runs in each of the last three innings. Logan Elm's first run was in the fourth frame. The Braves had a four run fifth inning and notched two in the sixth.

Gene Carfrey started on the mound for Westfall and went all the way, allowing seven hits, walking six and fanning 15.

DANNY Fausnaugh went the route for the Braves, giving up six hits, walking three and whiffing 11.

Carfrey paced the Mustangs at the plate, cracking two singles and driving in three runs in two official trips.

For Logan Elm, Larry Stant banged a double and a single in four trips, driving in three runs. Jim Orders had a pair of singles in three trips to the plate and drove in three runs.

Bill Blair opened the second inning with a walk. He advanced on Andy Hamman's single and then Ed Cornwell walked to load the bases.

Blair scored on Rick Maurer's squeeze bunt. Gene Carfrey singled in Hamman and Cornwell and Maurer scored on an error before the inning was over.

Steve Montgomery and Stant smashed back to back doubles in the fourth inning for the Braves' first run.

WESTFALL tallied in the top of the fifth when Greg Bigam led off with a single, stole second and third and then scored on an error.

In the bottom of the fifth, Fausnaugh walked and advanced to third on Mike Helwagen's double. Jim Orders singled, scoring both Fausnaugh and Helwagen. Dave Reichelderfer singled. Both he and Orders advanced on a fielders choice and then Stant unleashed a single to score them both.

In the sixth, Hamman singled for the Mustangs, moved to second on an error and scored on Carfrey's single.

The Braves' final two runs came in the bottom of the sixth. Fausnaugh walked, stole second and scored on Orders' single. Orders then went to second on an error and scored on another miscue, giving the Braves a 7-6 lead going into the last inning.

In the top of the seventh, Bigam was safe on an error and advanced to second. John Furniss singled him home with the tying run. The Braves were set down in order in the bottom of the inning and the game was called by the umpires.

The game will go on the league record as a tie, according to Vick Pontius, Logan Elm coach.

Dark Firms Tribe Roster

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Alvin Dark got things pretty well squared away Tuesday for next week's opener in Chicago by cutting six players and naming his "regular" outfield.

In fact, the Cleveland Indians' roster is now 23, two under the limit for the season. Two more players who will remain for the year likely will be relief pitchers.

Dark assigned three pitchers to Portland of the Pacific Coast League — Orlando Pena, Bob Allen and Steve Bailey. Outfielder Richie Scheinblum also went to Portland.

Infielder Pedro Gonzalez was optioned to Tulsa of the PCL, and pitcher Tom Kelley to Waterbury, Conn., of the Eastern League.

Regarding the regular players, Dark said his outfield will be Jose Cardenal in center, Tommy Harper in left and Vic Davalillo in right.

"There'll be certain times I'll change because of certain pitchers," Dark said after the Tribe dropped a 6-1 decision to the San Francisco Giants in a Cactus League game.

The Indians' loss Tuesday was their sixth straight in exhibition and reduced their spring training record to 9-15.

Mike McCormick blanked the Tribe for the first six innings and the Giants had a 5-0 lead by the seventh inning, all off Luis Tiant.

Mel Smith was second in the two mile run. Toni Yeatts finished third in the 440-yard run and Bob Wilkinson was third in the 180-yard low hurdles.

WASHINGTON C. H. — Jim Tatman, senior defensive tackle on the Washington High School football team, has received an athletic grant in aid to Marietta College.

The 6-2, 210 pound lineman lettered two years on the Blue Lion squad, playing his first varsity year as an offensive end.

Tatman, who carries an accumulative academic average of 2.7, plans to major in petroleum engineering. Marietta is one of the few schools in the country which offers such a degree.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Underdog San Francisco has become the fourth member of the National Basketball Association playoff cast with a 111-106 victory over the St. Louis Hawks.

"It's the greatest upset in NBA history," said a happy Bill Sharman Tuesday night after his Warriors disposed of the Hawks, four games to two, with fine outside shooting in every game of the Western Division semifinals.

"We truly didn't expect to be here," said Clyde Lee, who tipped in the Warriors' final basket after the Hawks had pulled to within 109-108.

The Warriors, plagued by injuries—the biggest to star Nate Thurmond—ended in third place in the regular season behind the Hawks and second-place Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, winner over Chicago in their semifinal series, entertains the Warriors Friday night in the first game of the Western Division final playoffs. The teams were 4-4 against each other during the season.

Young Talent Should Help Cubs '68' Pennant Race

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor
SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — Leo Durocher had more trouble with the umpires than figuring out his 1968 lineup in the early days of spring training here but both problems seemed to have been solved.

The colorful Leo, who surprised the baseball world by bringing the Chicago Cubs in third last year, their highest finish in 21 years, saw some of his young pitchers tossed out in early camp games because of the new spitball rule but the rule has been changed and Leo's

most happy with the world. Leo should be, for he spent the winter in Acapulco and has a solid lineup for the 1968 campaign.

"Some of the writers asked me what I think about the sophomore jinx this year after our young kids came through last season," is the way Leo starts off.

"Look," he says, "if you have talent, you don't worry about that. I think positive. They have talent and so they should be better."

"We got some fine pitching from Ferguson Jenkins, Ken Holtzman and Joe Niekro last year. Rod Hundley did a tremendous job catching. And I found a complete change in Adolfo Phillips (outfielder.) He was a loner. He came out of his shell."

"I'm pretty well set in all my positions this year," Leo continues, "and now I have a right fielder (Lou Johnson, from the Los Angeles Dodgers). I had to use 11 of them in that spot last year."

"They say he's 34 and too old. Hmmm! — age is relative. He's a swinging 22. His play will rub off on a couple of other guys—he'll even help Phillips."

"About the only switch I'm working on is trying Al Spangler (outfielder) at first base. And that's only to spell off Ernie Banks, my big guy. Ernie had a terrific year last year."

The Baby Bears' infield is set with Banks, Glenn Beckert, Don Kessinger and the third-base star, Ron Santo. Durocher is high in praising two youngsters, second baseman-shortstop Jose Arcia, up from Little Rock, and Garry Jesteadt, who was at Lodi, although Jesteadt, a third baseman now, probably will be sent out.

Johnson will complete the Cub outfield of Phillips and Billy Williams and it could be one of the better ones in the league. Hundley is backed up in the catching by Bill Plummer, up from Modesto, and John Stephenson, who saw some service with the Cubs last year.

Leo's pitching is fine. Jenkins won 20, Holtzman, pitching on weekends because of Army duty, was 9-0. Joe Niekro turned in a 10-7 mark and Dick Nye a 13-10 record.

The Cub skipper likes what he sees in Frank Reberger, a big right-hander up from Lodi and Dallas, and Jim Ellis, who was 11-11 with Tacoma. Bill Hands, who was 7-8 with the Cubs last year, could be a fifth starter. Gary Ross and John Hermanek, right-handed pitchers not on the varsity roster, should be tabbed for the future.

Leo talks considerably about Dick Radatz, the former relief "monster" who is on the Tacoma roster but "could be a great help to me," Leo says it "almost made you cry when you saw him pitch the other day, with the stuff he's got and he couldn't get the ball over the plate."

Among relief possibilities are Pete Mikkelsen, former New York Yankee and Pittsburgh Pirate; Ramon Hernandez, who was with Atlanta, and Charles Hartenstein, who was 9-5 with the Cubs last year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Shaler Haliman, 6-foot-5 star of Utah State, has been drafted by the Philadelphia 76ers, champions of the National Basketball Association.

This was disclosed today by a spokesman for the 76ers in advance of the formal announcement from NBA headquarters in New York.

A spokesman for the NBA said the official first-round draft choices by all teams would be announced late today.

Franklin Mielu, owner of the San Francisco Warriors, said he would draft Ron Williams, 6-3 West Virginia star "if he's available."

Bob Kauffman, 6-8 Little All-American from Guilford, N.C. College, has been drafted and signed by the Seattle SuperSonics, the Seattle Times said.

Don Richman, Seattle general manager, would neither confirm nor deny the report, but called a press conference for today.

With the exception of the San Diego Rockets, who signed Houston's All-American Elvin Hayes last week for an estimated $400,000, none of the other

NBA clubs made known their first-round draft picks. The selections were made in a telephone draft by Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the league.

There were unconfirmed reports that the Baltimore Bullets had chosen All-American Westley Unseld of Louisville and that the Boston Celtics had picked Don Chaney of Houston.

Some of the leading collegiate stars likely to be drafted include All-American Larry Miller of North Carolina, Don May of Dayton, the Most Valuable Player in the recent National Invitation Tournament, Bill Hosket of Ohio State. Mike Lewis of Duke. Sam Williams of Iowa, and Tom Boerwinkle of Tennessee.

Among the small college players eligible are John Ray Goldrey of Abiense Christian, Henry Logan of Western Carolina. Jerry McGreal of Illinois State, Larry Newbold of Long Island, Dallas Thornton of Kentucky Wesleyan and Otto Moore of Pan-American.

Meantime, it was announced the final divisional playoffs will start Friday night. In the Eastern Division it will be Boston at Philadelphia in the West, it will be San Francisco at Los Angeles.

Young Talent Should Help Cubs '68' Pennant Race

Central Press Sports Editor
SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — Leo Durocher had more trouble with the umpires than figuring out his 1968 lineup in the early days of spring training here but both problems seemed to have been solved.

The colorful Leo, who surprised the baseball world by bringing the Chicago Cubs in third last year, their highest finish in 21 years, saw some of his young pitchers tossed out in early camp games because of the new spitball rule but the rule has been changed and Leo's

most happy with the world. Leo should be, for he spent the winter in Acapulco and has a solid lineup for the 1968 campaign.

"Some of the writers asked me what I think about the sophomore jinx this year after our young kids came through last season," is the way Leo starts off.

"Look," he says, "if you have talent, you don't worry about that. I think positive. They have talent and so they should be better."

"We got some fine pitching from Ferguson Jenkins, Ken Holtzman and Joe Niekro last year. Rod Hundley did a tremendous job catching. And I found a complete change in Adolfo Phillips (outfielder). He was a loner. He came out of his shell."

"I'm pretty well set in all my positions this year," Leo continues, "and now I have a right fielder (Lou Johnson, from the Los Angeles Dodgers). I had to use 11 of them in that spot last year."

"They say he's 34 and too old. Hmmmm!— age is relative. He's a swinging 22. His play will rub off on a couple of other guys—he'll even help Phillips."

"About the only switch I'm working on is trying Al Spangler (outfielder) at first base. And that's only to spell off Ernie Banks, my big guy. Ernie had a terrific year last year."

The Baby Bears' infield is set with Banks, Glenn Beckert, Don Kessinger and the third-base star, Ron Santo. U.S. Embargo of Goods To Cuba Proves Effective

HAVANA (AP)—Two young women, in their mid-teens when Prime Minister Fidel Castro came to power nine years ago, were talking during a birthday party. What would they do first if by some strange stroke Cuba suddenly had everything it needs and wants?

One decided she would buy every brand of shampoo on the market and wash her hair repeatedly until she had tried them all, meanwhile eating chocolate candy until she was sick. The other would enter the largest dress shop she could find and try on everything in the store before making a purchase.

Their conversation was one manifestation of the trade embargo the United States imposed almost seven years ago to make life as difficult as possible for Castro's Communist government. The embargo was announced April 25, 1961—eight days after the unsuccessful Bay of Pigs invasion and the day after President John F. Kennedy accepted full responsibility for that exile attack.

The United States government forbade American trade with Cuba and threatened to cut off from the U.S. market any foreign firm doing business with Castro. This embargo is often called a blockade but that word implies a ring of war ships around the island to stop trade. No such ring exists.

"I didn't think too much of the embargo's success when I arrived 18 months ago," a European diplomat says. "Now I have seen more and I think the embargo is successful."

To the government, lack of feminine finery is one of the smaller problems. Larger worries are caused by critical shortages of spare parts for American-made vehicles, machinery, communications equipment, appliances and—most important—sugar mill equipment.

Demo Groups In State Back 3 Choices

McCarthy, Kennedy And Humphrey All Gain Support

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Summit County chairman of Ohio Democrats for Kennedy offered to join forces Tuesday with a similar group in Columbus.

Summit County Commissioner Victor Herbert put his offer in a telegram to Ira Gaffin, a teaching assistant at Ohio State University, who heads Ohioans for Kennedy '68.

Herbert said his group was organized St. Patrick's Day to boost Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., for the presidency. It numbers several hundred in Akron, Oberlin, Urbana, Kent and Hiram.

Meanwhile, in Cleveland, backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., mounted separate stop Kennedy campaigns.

James D. Nolan, Cleveland publicist and a Democrat, announced formation of the Ohio Committee for Hubert Humphrey. Former U.S. Rep. Robert E. Sweeney pledged to back the vice president if he decides to seek the presidency.

Cleveland attorney Sheldon D. Schecter flew to Wisconsin with two other men to persuade McCarthy to come to Cleveland. The trio will urge the Minnesota senator to seek support among the delegate candidates to the national convention.

Columbus Mayor M. E. Sennbrenner said Tuesday night that he sent a telegram to Humphrey promising support if the vice president decides to run.

De Gaulle Praises Bombing Cutback

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle today described the U.S. move to de-escalate the war in Vietnam "as an act of reason and political courage."

In his first public comment on President Johnson's limitation of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, De Gaulle called the move "a first step toward peace."

However, De Gaulle pointed out that the bombing halt was "neither general, nor unconditional." This seemed to be a reference to North Vietnamese conditions that all attacks on North Vietnam must cease before peace talks can begin.

Fire Damages 12 New Autos

CINCINNATI (AP)—Fire spread Tuesday from a lot where carpet fabrics were being burned to a parking area of the Stillpass Lincoln Mercury car agency, damaging 12 new Mercury Cougars.

None of the autos was destroyed and no damage estimate had been set in the fire started when employees of a carpet company were burning the fabrics in the company's adjacent lot.

Ohio Fuel Gas To Expand Storage Wells

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. will spend almost $1½ million this year to expand and improve underground natural gas storage facilities in Ohio, it was announced today.

Ohio Fuel supplies natural gas to Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., and 26 other gas companies in Ohio. Both Ohio Fuel and Columbia Gas of Ohio are part of the Columbia Gas System, Inc.

C. R. Baker, Circleville manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio, said 39 new storage wells will be drilled and 60 existing wells will be reconditioned to help provide more natural gas for the company's customers. Total cost of the work will be $1,470,300.

All of the work will be done in Ohio Fuel's 14 existing storage fields, which are strategically located throughout the state.

They are: Lucas, in Ashland and Richland Counties; Pavaonia, in Ashland and Richland Counties; Weaver, in Ashland, Richland and Knox Counties; Laurel, in Hocking County; Benton, in Hocking and Vinton Counties; Holmes, in Holmes County; Wellington, in Lorain and Medina Counties; Wayne, in Wayne, Ashland and Holmes Counties; Medina, in Medina County; McArthur, in Vinton County; Lorain, in Lorain County; Guernsey, in Guernsey, Muskingum and Coshocton Counties; Knox, in Knox County, and Zane in Muskingum County.

Eight of the new storage wells will be drilled in Pavaonia Storage Field, five each will be in Lucas and Weaver, two each in Benton, McArthur and Medina, and one on Laurel. The exact location of the other 14 wells will be determined later this year, Baker said.

About 95 per cent of the gas used by gas company customers is purchased outside the state. During summer, gas transported to Ohio through long-distance pipelines from the Southwest is stored in the 14 underground storage fields—natural rock formations thousands of feet underground that once held native gas.

Thus the gas is available for use in the following winter. On the coldest winter days, about 55 per cent of the gas used by gas company customers comes from underground storage.

As customers' demands for gas increase, the gas company must increase the amount of gas stored and step up the input and output rate of the gas to and from storage.

To improve this capacity, Ohio Fuel must drill additional wells into storage fields and replace and recondition existing wells to keep their operation at maximum efficiency, Baker explained.

Malaysia Guards Against Filipinos

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP)—The Malaysian government today announced partial military mobilization in its north Borneo state of Sabah to guard against the "possible threat" of infiltration by armed Filipinos.

Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak said more troops would be sent to the state, civilian defense groups and a vigilante corps of night watchmen would be formed and selected youths would be drafted.

U.S. Embargo of Goods To Cuba Proves Effective

HAVANA (AP) — Two young women, in their mid-teens when Prime Minister Fidel Castro came to power nine years ago, were talking during a birthday party. What would they do first if by some strange stroke Cuba suddenly had everything it needs and wants?

One decided she would buy every brand of shampoo on the market and wash her hair repeatedly until she had tried them all, meanwhile eating chocolate candy until she was sick. The other would enter the largest dress shop she could find and try on everything in the store before making a purchase. Their conversation was one manifestation of the trade embargo the United States imposed almost seven years ago to make life as difficult as possible for Castro's Communist government. The embargo was announced April 25, 1961—eight days after the unsuccessful Bay of Pigs invasion and the day after President John F. Kennedy accepted full responsibility for that exile attack.

The United States government forbade American trade with Cuba and threatened to cut off from the U.S. market any foreign firm doing business with Castro. This embargo is often called a blockade but that word implies a ring of war ships around the island to stop trade. No such ring exists.

Other foreign observers agree and Castro's repeated attacks on the embargo back them up.

To the government, lack of feminine finery is one of the smaller problems. Larger worries are caused by critical shortages or spare parts for American-made vehicles, machinery, communications equipment, appliances and—most important—sugar mill equipment.

Demo Groups In State Back 3 Choices

McCarthy, Kennedy And Humphrey All Gain Support

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Summit County chairman of Ohio Democrats for Kennedy offered to join forces Tuesday with a similar group in Columbus.

Summit County Commissioner Victor Herbert put his offer in a telegram to Ira Gaffin, a teaching assistant at Ohio State University, who heads Ohioans for Kennedy '68.

Herbert said his group was organized St. Patrick's Day to boost Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., for the presidency. It numbers several hundred in Akron, Oberlin, Urbana, Kent and Hiram.

Meanwhile, in Cleveland, backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., mounted separate stop Kennedy campaigns.

James D. Nolan, Cleveland publicist and a Democrat, announced formation of the Ohio Committee for Hubert Humphrey. Former U.S. Rep. Robert E. Sweeney pledged to back the vice president if he decides to seek the presidency.

Cleveland attorney Sheldon D. Schecter flew to Wisconsin with two other men to persuade McCarthy to come to Cleveland. The trio will urge the Minnesota senator to seek support among the delegate candidates to the national convention.

Columbus Mayor M. E. Sennbrenner said Tuesday night that he sent a telegram to Humphrey promising support if the vice president decides to run.

De Gaulle Praises Bombing Cutback

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle today described the U.S. move to de-escalate the war in Vietnam "as an act of reason and political courage."

In his first public comment on President Johnson's limitation of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, De Gaulle called the move "a first step toward peace."

However, De Gaulle pointed out that the bombing halt was "neither general, nor unconditional." This seemed to be a reference to North Vietnamese conditions that all attacks on North Vietnam must cease before peace talks can begin.

Fire Damages 12 New Autos

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fire spread Tuesday from a lot where carpet fabrics were being burned to a parking area of the Stillpass Lincoln Mercury car agency, damaging 12 new Mercury Cougars.

None of the autos was destroyed and no damage estimate had been set in the fire started when employees of a carpet company were burning the fabrics in the company's adjacent lot.

troops. In all, 8,000 troops were engaged in the drive.

The advance is west over National Highway 9 from Ca Lu to Khe Sanh, and the relief force has covered about one-third of the distance, the report said.

"We want to open a road and defeat any enemy we encounter," said Maj. Gen. John J. Tollson of New Bern, N.C., commander of the cavalry division who has assumed control of the operation called Pegasus.

"There should be enough here to keep us busy."

It was too soon to tell if a major battle would erupt when the relief force strikes the main North Vietnamese positions.

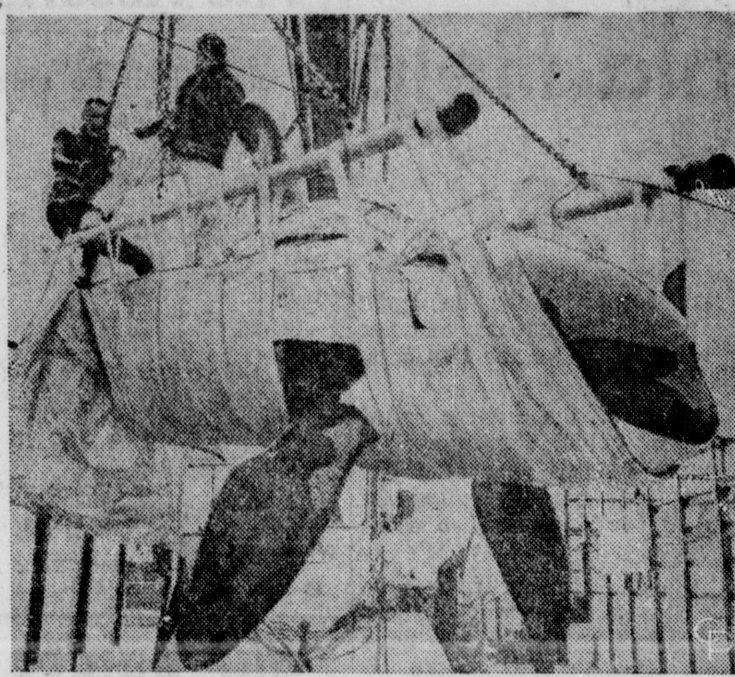

Informed sources reported that it was presumed a big air and sea search was under way for the patrol plane in the Gulf of Siam.

Bomb Threat; Plane Checked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Boeing 707 jet plane with 78 passengers and seven crew members aboard made an unscheduled stop at Port Columbus International Airport early today due to a bomb threat.

The plane was Trans World Airlines Flight No. 2 from Los Angeles to New York. A TWA spokesman here said an anonymous telephone call warning of a bomb on the jet was received at the airlines' office in Los Angeles after the plane had taken off.

Police and firemen conducted a two-hour search after the flight was ordered down here. No bomb was found. The plane continued on to New York City.

House Eyes Ethics Code

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, its one vacant seat the legacy of a congressional scandal, is preparing to debate a proposed code of ethics for the other 434 members.

REACT Officers Elected for 1968

The Circleville REACT group held the election of officers Tuesday Night during a meeting held in the Red Cross Building, Watt St.

The new officers are: Larry Lane, president; John Sanders, first vice president; Charles McGraw, second vice president; Lowell Tolland, secretary; Dan Davis, treasurer; Charles Schlegel, public relations; Lowell Ferguson, parliamentarian and Burton, chaplain.

Persons interested in joining the organization may do so by contacting any of the officers or any other members of the organization.

REACT meets the first Tuesday of each month.

It is the product of a 12-member committee headed by Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., which was formed after Adam Clayton Powell was excluded from the House for alleged financial misconduct.

The proposal would require members to disclose their financial dealings, the a.m. being to prevent conflict of interest.

The Senate adopted its own ethics code last month but not until there was considerable debate and considerable revision to tone down the original proposal—considered by some Senators as too severe.

Rubber Union Studies Contract

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ninety-five union employees at the Cincinnati Rubber Manufacturing Co. here will decide tonight whether to accept a new contract proposal reached Tuesday.

The members of Local 151 of the United Rubber Workers have been on strike against the company since March 12.

Far-Space Radio Signals Studied; Origin Unknown

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — A government space scientist says it's remotely possible newly detected mysterious signals from outer space may represent "galactic navigational beacons" being employed by an advanced civilization to guide their manned spaceships along the Milky Way.

Another admittedly far-out possibility, says Dr. Kenneth Kellermann, is that the radio wave signals may represent communications signals between four inhabited planets, as well as attempts by each to contact still other planets such as the earth.

Kellermann, of the government's National Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank, W.Va., described the concepts in an interview Tuesday while attending a meeting of the American Astronomical Society at the University of Virginia.

He did so after first declaring that while it's much more likely the strange radio signals are coming from uninhabited starlike objects, the alternative possibility that they may represent signals from intelligent beings has not yet been definitely ruled out.

The discussion concerned recently discovered "pulsars" — four celestial objects of some kind that have been detected by pulsating radio waves they are emitting.

British radio astronomers discovered them last summer but didn't report their findings to the scientific world until late in February. Since then, American scientists have also detected them.

Declaring the discovery has astounded astronomers throughout the world, Kellermann said most radio astronomers in the United States and abroad—including himself—believe the signals are probably coming from "neutron stars."

The latter are previously postulated celestial objects presumed to be a form of wreckage from supernovae or exploding stars.

Some other scientists, he indicated, believe the signals may be coming from other types of dying stars known as "white dwarfs."

"But," he added, "it's probably fair to say that all of these scientists continue to think, in their own minds, of the possibility, however remote, that these signals may be artificial ones produced as a means of communication by some advanced civilization."

In this connection, Kellermann disclosed tentative plans for a government-sponsored, unique doubleheader radio telescope experiment aimed at trying to help pinpoint more definitely the nature of the strange pulsating objects.

He stressed that the experiment is not expressly designed to answer the question whether an advanced civilization might be involved. But he said the results might have a bearing on the question.

Ohio Fuel Gas To Expand Storage Wells

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. will spend almost $1½ million this year to expand and improve underground natural gas storage facilities in Ohio, it was announced today.

Ohio Fuel supplies natural gas to Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., and 26 other gas companies in Ohio. Both Ohio Fuel and Columbia Gas of Ohio are part of the Columbia Gas System, Inc.

C. R. Baker, Circleville manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio, said 39 new storage wells will be drilled and 60 existing wells will be reconditioned to help provide more natural gas for the company's customers. Total cost of the work will be $1,470,300.

All of the work will be done in Ohio Fuel's 14 existing storage fields, which are strategically located throughout the state.

They are: Lucas, in Ashland and Richland Counties; Pavia, in Ashland and Richland Counties; Weaver, in Ashland, Richland and Knox Counties; Laurel, in Hocking County; Benton, in Hocking and Vinton Counties; Holmes, in Holmes County; Wellington, in Lorain and Medina Counties; Wayne, in Wayne, Ashland and Holmes Counties; Medina, in Medina County; McArthur, in Vinton County; Lorain, in Lorain County; Guernsey, in Guernsey, Muskingum and Coshocton Counties; Knox, in Knox County, and Zane in Muskingum County.

Eight of the new storage wells will be drilled in Pavia Storage Field, five each will be in Lucas and Weaver, two each in Benton, McArthur and Medina, and one on Laurel. The exact location of the other 14 wells will be determined later this year, Baker said.

About 95 per cent of the gas used by gas company customers is purchased outside the state. During summer, gas transported to Ohio through long-distance pipelines from the Southwest is stored in the 14 underground storage fields — natural rock formations thousands of feet underground that once held native gas.

Thus the gas is available for use in the following winter. On the coldest winter days, about 55 per cent of the gas used by gas company customers comes from underground storage.

As customers' demands for gas increase, the gas company must increase the amount of gas stored and step up the input and output rate of the gas to and from storage.

To improve this capacity, Ohio Fuel must drill additional wells into storage fields and replace and recondition existing wells to keep their operation at maximum efficiency, Baker explained.
